ROUT NAZIS IN 2 NORSE CITIES

WITNESS RIPS MYSTERY FROM POLAND OF REDS

Russia's Might and Weakness Bared.

Poland, since its seizure by Germany and Russia last September, has been a land of mystery. Bolshevik and Nazi censors have combined to shut off all authentic information about this once proud country.

Alex Small of The Tribune's foreign staff, who was probably the last American newspaper man to leave Poland, told a graphic story of what was happening there in the first days after the German and Russian occupation. Since then little authentic information from Poland has been obtainable.

Here, therefore, is the first eyewitness story of what has been happening in that part of Poland which the Red army seized. It is told by a British business man, who had long been a resident of Lvov and who knew the people of the area thoroly and spoke their language. There will be five articles.

LONDON, April 21.—I have just returned to England from Russian Poland. I was in Warsaw when war broke out, but altho I did my best to get out of the country, I was held up at Lvov [pronounced Lvuf; also spelled Lwow], the Polish city we used to know as Lemberg. I saw the Red army march into Lvov and I lived there under soviet rule until a short time ago. Lvov became the administrative center for that part of Poland which was Stalin's spoil. Thus I was able to observe not only the Red army but also the horde of officials who came to sovietize Russia's new territory.

Map locates Lvov [Lwow] in Russian Poland.

There is one important point to keep in mind. I lived in Lvov like an ordinary citizen; what I saw was the normal life and conditions of Russians, not affairs specially staged for the benefit of prewar observers and tourists.

Mechanized Force Moves In.

The Red armies began their march into Poland on Sept. 17, 1939. Lvov was occupied on Sept. 20, and the line of demarcation to the west of the city, as agreed with the Germans, was reached during the week following.

These Russian troops that came to Poland "to liberate the oppressed working classes" were meant to impress the Poles. And it must be admitted that they did so.

The army was mechanized right down to the soup kitchens. The only horses I saw during the first advance were themselves riding in lorries [trucks]. There were tanks of all sizes. Some carried three inch guns in addition to machine guns, veritable moving fortresses. Also there were several types of medium sized tanks and a great number of light models for reconnaissance work.

Heavy guns were drawn by specially designed caterpillar tractors that moved them quickly over the hilly terrain on the slopes of the Carpathian mountains. All the supplies and other equipment were carried on lorries. Of these there must have been several thousands.

Close to Hungarian Border.

Even the heaviest types of tanks went right into the mountains—I have seen them quite close to the Hungarian frontier—up to an altitude of 5,000 feet, where winter conditions made the going difficult.

In contrast to this modern mechanized equipment, all the rifles I saw were of the type and pattern used by the Czar's armies in the world war. Machine guns were comparatively few.

To celebrate the anniversary of the bolshevik revolution, a grand military parade was staged at Lvov on Nov. 6 and 7. This was the first parade of Red troops that any Polish city had seen. The Russians were determined to overawe the people by a

BRITISH TANKS AID AT HAMAR AND ELVERUM

French Division Is Landed at Namsos.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 22, Monday (AP).—A fast swinging British-French expeditionary force, hammering with a battering ram of tanks, was reported battling the Germans in Norway today from north of Trondheim on the west coast almost to the Swedish border north of Oslo.

Norwegian legation officials confirmed earlier reports that the British, supported by tanks, had aided the Norwegians in recapturing Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo and 40 miles from the Swedish border, and said it was reported Elverum, nearby, had been retaken too.

Other sources, describing a battle which began at 5 a. m. on Sunday with heavy firing, said it had set aflame the town of Verdalsora, 35 miles north of Trondheim on the west coast.

Land French Division.

A French division was reported landed at Namsos, 100 miles north of Trondheim, and it was assumed the fighting was an effort of the British-French-Norwegians to push the Germans out of their positions astride the Trondheim-Namsos railway at Levanger, five miles south of Verdalsora.

The Germans presumably were intent upon grasping Verdalsora, important because it is on the railroad and also controls a good highway to the Swedish frontier.

The English at Hamar were rushed overland by railroad to take part in stemming the German expansion in the Oslo district. They were reported by legation officials to have come from Andalsnes, 100 miles south of Trondheim.

Fighting on Seven Main Fronts.

As outlined by the legation, the Norwegians are fighting on seven main fronts, from north of Narvik to Oslo.

The other fronts are at Levanger, 30 miles north of Trondheim, Trondheim itself, Hegra fortress, 20 miles east of Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger, and Oslo.

The last front, it was said, runs from northwest of Honefoss, 25 miles northwest of the capital, to Gjovik, Hamar and Elverum and thence in a straight line east to the Swedish border.

A salient driven into this line between Gjovik and Hamar, it was explained, runs all the way along Lake Mjosa to Lillehammer, 80 miles north of Oslo and 25 miles beyond Hamar. The English are fighting on this salient with the Norwegians.

Attack Town Repeatedly.

The Norwegian military communique yesterday said the Germans had attacked Lillehammer repeatedly Saturday night and Sunday with planes firing machine guns. One house near the railway station in the well-known and beautiful tourist town was set afire, the communique said.

The Hegra fortress commander, past whose post the Germans slipped an expedition by train last week to reach the Swedish frontier and cut Norway in two, was reported having to battle on two sides, but was given a good chance by military observers to hold off the enemy a long time.

The Norwegian news agency, Norsk Telegrambyro, said British troops have been in full contact with Norwegian forces since Saturday in the Gudbrandsal valley. This valley slants southeast toward Hamar and Oslo.

German Plane Shot Down.

The communique said the Germans dropped bombs at different times again yesterday on the harbor of Andalsnes. One German plane was shot down north of Trondheim, the communique added.

It also said two German tanks were destroyed in close fighting at Randsfjorden, on the railroad 90 miles north of Oslo and only 30 miles from the Swedish border.

Reports from Kiruna, Swedish ore city on the railroad leading to the Norwegian port of Narvik, said a steady stream of German transport planes had been landing troops in Narvik. Twenty transports were said to have landed on Friday, 15 on Saturday, and 3 today.

The reports said German forces in Narvik were estimated at 3,000 while the British have landed 5,000 troops at Harstad, 35 miles northwest of Narvik.

Speeding Cars CrashHeadOn; 11 Youths Die

Slayton, Minn., April 21 (AP).—A head-on collision of two automobiles, so terrific that gears flew out of steel cases, took the lives of 11 young persons near here early today. Seven died instantly and four died in a hospital. Two others were injured, one probably fatally.

Arrow locates site of accident.

So violent was the collision that one of the bodies was hurled 60 feet from the wreckage. Others were strewn on the highway nearby. Several were crushed in the tangled wreckage.

Transmission and differential gears were scattered on the highway and a generator armature popped from its heavy encasement.

One Has Chance to Live.

Seven persons were riding in one car and six in the other when they met on a curve in highway 59, a quarter mile south of Slayton, which is 36 miles north of the Iowa line and 36 miles east of the Dakota line.

Only Elmer Meyer, 18 years old, probably will escape the crash alive, hospital attendants said.

Capt. Ralph Potzin of the state highway patrol said excessive speed undoubtedly contributed to the heavy death toll, the greatest in Minnesota traffic history.

The dead:

Wayne Gamble, 17; Everett Johnson, 17; Irene Schwab, 17; Harold and Lorens Tuynman, brothers, 18 and 19, respectively, and Rachel Fisher, 17.

In the other car: George Larson, 20; Carl A. Falk, 21; Gordon Meyers, 23; Leo Egge, 18, and Hollis Luft, 21. All lived in this vicinity.

Youth's Back Broken.

Near death in a Slayton hospital with five crushed vertebrae and other injuries is Cecil Jensen, 17, passenger with Larson. Meyer, also riding in the Larson car, suffered a broken arm.

The noise of the collision attracted Dr. Henry Domes, living two blocks away. He notified the sheriff's office, called for ambulances, and returned to aid the injured.

BRITISH UNIONS SEEK EQUAL PAY TO WOMEN IN ARMS INDUSTRIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—Equal pay with men for the 1,500,000 women being recruited for the arms industries will be demanded at a meeting of union leaders and employers on May 1, it was announced tonight.

Employers contend women are less efficient than men but the government is bringing pressure to force a speedy decision. It says the problem may be decided by a ministry of labor ruling if employers and unions fail to agree.

At Manchester 3,000 women have replaced men on buses, trolleys and other utilities and the question of pay is before an industrial court. It is understood that if the court upholds the rates now paid, which are the same that men received, the decision will affect the whole question of women's wages in the arms factories.

Agriculture is reported experiencing a shortage of women workers. The shortage is blamed on the government's evacuation scheme, which keeps many farm women busy attending to evacuees.

7,000 RESIDENTS ARE ISOLATED IN MAINE BY GALE

Boston, Mass., April 21 (AP).—Seven thousand residents in the northeast tip of Maine were isolated tonight as a 50 mile an hour northeaster sent a high surf pounding against New England waterfront property and left 10 inches of snow inland.

So strong that it splashed waves over 114 foot Minot's Light, outside Boston harbor, the storm felled 100 poles in the isolated area, blocking highways and halting communication.

An incoming tide, driven by the gale, flooded Quincy Shore boulevard, main highway between Boston and Cape Cod, for three miles, halting automobile traffic.

In Portland harbor, where two small boats were pounded to pieces, the Danish steamer Jutta, a war refugee, dragged anchor and drifted to within a ship's length of the harbor breakwater.

Britons Now Must Order Their Papers in Advance

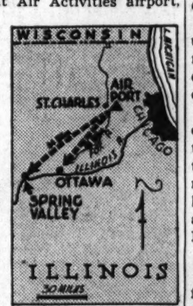
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—British newspapers, which have been reduced more than a third in size since the start of the war, have decided to refuse to accept copies returned unsold from retailers. Henceforth, readers must order their papers in advance.

2 Pilots Glide in Formation; Up 2½ Hours

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Two young men hopped into soaring planes at Air Activities airport, five miles east of St. Charles, yesterday afternoon, and two and a half hours later landed many miles to the southwest, along the Illinois river. Neither ship has an engine, and the two accomplished their flights by riding rising air currents.



Routes of glider flights.

The two are Joseph Steinhauser, 33 years old, 1341 Addison street, and Stanley Corcoran, 27, of 5419 65th place. Their flights, virtually made in formation, were the first of the kind in the middle west.

Makes 64 Mile Flight.

Steinhauser landed at Spring Valley, in Bureau county, 64 airline miles from his starting point. Corcoran descended three miles north of Ottawa, La Salle county, 48 miles from the takeoff.

Both flyers are experienced glider pilots. Two years ago Corcoran made the outstanding flights at the national soaring meeting at Elmira, N. Y., in the same ship he used today. Steinhauser, by yesterday's flight, won his international soaring license.

The flights are started by using an automobile to tow the gliders into the air. When the gliders reach 500 feet the pilots release the tow rope.

Circle Like Two Hawks.

At 1:05 p. m. Steinhauser was towed to 500 feet, where he released the tow rope. He immediately found himself in a current of air rising at the rate of 12 feet a second. Corcoran, on the ground, saw that Steinhauser had found rising air, and five minutes later he was towed off also. They circled briefly, one below the other, like a pair of hawks.

Within 15 minutes they were up 5,000 feet. Both landed in pastures, without damaging their gliders. Steinhauser reported he had reached a height of 5,900 feet. Corcoran went to 6,500 feet. The flights supported claims of soaring experts that the midwest, particularly the Chicago area, gives promise of being one of the finest locations for such flying.

Labor Czars Find Bonanza in the Subway

How control of the labor supply for the Chicago subways has showered a golden harvest of dues and high initiation fees, estimated at between $60,000 and $80,000, upon union chiefs under the overlordship of Michael Carrozzo, the street cleaners' and paving workers' czar, was disclosed yesterday.

Carrozzo's long domination of municipal paving operations was exposed last week. Aldermen objected to his calling a strike of asphalt workers shortly after bids for street construction, regarded as unduly high, had been put in by interests friendly to Carrozzo and rejected by the city. The city's firm attitude brought the strike to an end after two days.

Carrozzo is scheduled to appear at 2 p. m. tomorrow before the city council finance committee. He wants to argue for more money for his street laborers. Members of the committee want to ask him about charges that he systematically ruins city asphalt jobs, dominates city street work, and dictates material purchased.

Forced to Pay Fees.

The allegation that Carrozzo and his aids have taken charge of underground as well as surface operations was made by men who have been compelled to pay initiation fees of $40 to $50 before being allowed to work at the temporary jobs available in the new tubes. These men are or have been members of local No. 2 of the Street and Tunnel Miners' union.

Peter Fosco, county commissioner, is head of this union. The parent international is the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union of America. This international has 25 locals in Chicago. Carrozzo is its representative here and also is head of the district council embracing all the locals.

Union Roll Increases.

The Fosco union had from 300 to 500 members before the subway was started. Now it has several times that many. It is paying dues to the district council and international on the basis of 1,500 men. Estimates place the number of initiates at more than 2,500. Union headquarters will neither confirm nor deny this. Officials admitted only that the membership increase has been "several hundred."

Under the system of employment used by subway contractors, each man must have a union card. The contractors say that nearly 4,000 are employed on the projects.

According to union men, members of the Carrozzo unions who can "do the work" are allowed to present their cards. But most of these already have jobs or don't want tunnel labor, and nonunion men applying are forced to obtain cards from the Fosco union.

Part Payments Taken.

"The demand is for a $50 initiation fee," one of the workers said. "If the new man doesn't have the whole amount, he is asked to pay $5 a week or every two weeks. He also has to sign up for three months' dues at $2 a month.

"If his job falls out from under him before the $56 is paid, he loses his donations. If he can find another, he must start all over paying on a new initation fee."

A business agent at the Fosco office disputed these figures. He said dues were $2 a month but that only $40 was exacted as an initiation fee. Of this fee, $5 goes to the international.

Even on the $40 basis, the union supposedly has profited from $60,000 to $80,000 since the subway started and from 1,500 to 2,000 members have been added.

"Marry my Daughter"

In the train, two hours after the wedding, he told her the truth: He had married her because her mother had asked him to do so. What did the new bride decide to do?

$100,000 Levy in 3 Years, Charge.

New York, April 21 [Special].—George Scalise, ex-convict who became president of the powerful Building Service Employés International union, was arrested today and charged with extorting $100,000 during the last three years from 20 hotels and 11 cleaning contractors.

Detectives and investigators took Scalise into custody in a hotel room at 3 o'clock this morning. He was taken to a police station where he was finger printed, photographed, and held in $40,000 bail. After spending the day in Tombs prison he was released on bonds posted by the union thru a bonding company.

Dewey Orders Seizures.

Dewey, now in California on a political speaking tour, was apprised by telephone yesterday of the status of the investigation. He ordered that Scalise be arrested immediately.

Miss Ann Kaye, described as Scalise's confidential secretary and intimately acquainted with his affairs, was seized and held in $20,000 bail as a material witness. Lodged in the Women's House of Detention, she was released at the same time as Scalise and under the same kind of arrangement as to bail.

Two other members of the Scalise union were arrested. They are Izzy Schwartz, international representative of Scalise in the east, and his brother, Louis Schwartz, president of local 32-J of the International. They were named as co-conspirators in the district attorney's charge against Scalise.

Under Previous Indictment.

The Schwartz brothers are under a previous indictment on a charge of conspiracy to commit extortion and were at liberty in $6,000 bail each. This charge grew out of illegal union activities.

Police records show that Scalise was convicted on Oct. 25, 1913, of violating the Mann white slave act, for which he served four and a half years in the Atlanta federal penitentiary. He has made two unsuccessful attempts to obtain a presidential pardon for this offense. President Harding rejected his plea in 1923 and last September the justice department refused to pass favorably on his plea for reconsideration.

Murray Gurfein, head of the racket bureau in District Attorney Dewey's office, in arguing for high bail for Scalise before General Sessions Judge Jacob Gould Schurman, declared that the investigation "will be searching and far reaching into many phases of the union's activities."

John Kadel, attorney for Scalise, asserted that the union leader's arrest at 3 o'clock in the morning was unnecessary and declared that he had promised District Attorney Dewey that he would produce Scalise whenever necessary.

Tells Plan for Flight.

Gurfein then told the court that he had information indicating that Scalise intended to leave the jurisdiction and asked that bail be set at $60,000. Scalise, when arrested, had two traveling bags packed, and a ticket for Chicago on the Twentieth Century due to leave at 6 p. m. Sunday.

Kadel explained that Scalise's activities as international president involved trips to various parts of the country and that he was going to Chicago to discuss with his executive committee plans for the convention of the international in Atlantic City in May.

Judge Schurman finally set bail at $40,000 and fixed Tuesday as the date for a hearing on the charge after Kadel had asked an immediate hearing and Gurfein argued that it be put down for Wednesday.

Indictment Is Expected.

In his argument, the assistant district attorney declared this case "of major importance" and indicated that an indictment might be returned shortly against the union president.

Gurfein termed Scalise's rise in the affairs of the union "phenomenal." He declared that in 1934 Scalise was merely a representative of the international. In 1935 he became the fifth vice president, and in 1937 was catapulted to the presidency.

"He holds great power for good or evil," declared Gurfein. "A union

BUILD UP BRITISH HOPES FOR GREAT NORWAY VICTORY

Boast That Germans Will Be Ousted by May 15.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, April 22, Monday (AP).—The air ministry announced today that the royal air force bombed and machine-gunned Stavanger airdrome on the Norwegian coast last night. The text of the communique follows:

"Last night aircraft of the royal air force again bombed and machine-gunned the airdrome at Stavanger. In spite of antiaircraft fire, hits by incendiary and high explosive bombs were observed. A number of enemy aircraft are known to have been destroyed. All our aircraft returned safely."

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 21.—Whatever is happening in Norway, one thing is certain—the British are counting on great victories. Early editions of tomorrow's newspapers feature "Hamar taken."

The Daily Mail correspondent in Stockholm reported that British and French troops contacted the Norwegian forces 70 miles north of Oslo. Telling of the capture of Hamar, he said:

"This magnificent piece of strategy, outrivalling anything of the Germans, goes far to explain why the allies have maintained such strict secrecy since their forces landed in Norway."

That this was expected has been indicated for some time by the confident tone adopted by those known to have access to government circles. In fact, THE TRIBUNE correspondent was told to bet his "bottom dollar" that every German in Norway would be dead or have surrendered before May 15.

Chamberlain to Speak.

The bet was not taken, but the correspondent merely mentions this as symptomatic of the hopes of those supposedly "in the know."

In announcing that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would make a full statement on the Norwegian operations on Tuesday, the Daily Mail headlined the story with the words, "Premier will tell of successes in Norway."

Bomb Air War Ferry.

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—British forces were reported tonight to have blasted at both ends of Germany's aerial ferry to Norway and thrust into the heart of the invaded northern kingdom in a dash by mobile troops.

The war in the air was told in British communiques which reported the bombing of German airfields in Norway and Denmark and German attacks on allied forces in which a British trawler went down at Namsos, Norway, about 100 miles up the Norwegian coast from German held Trondheim. The admiralty identified the trawler as the Rutlandshire and said the "crew was saved."

"There was considerable enemy air activity in Namsos during April 20 and many bombs were dropped. Extensive damage was caused to the town but the only allied loss was one British trawler sunk. There were no casualties to allied troops," a communique said.

Aallborg in northern Denmark and Kristiansand and Stavanger in southwestern Norway, main line points on the 300 mile military air transport system Germany uses to feed men and munitions to the north, were targets of a concerted offensive last night and this morning. Planes, runways, and buildings were damaged, a communique from the air ministry said.

One of the British pilots who participated in the attack on the air base at Aallborg, the first such raid on Danish soil, said tonight the Germans were taken by surprise.

"The boundary lights were on," he said, "and so were the obstruction lights on the building. There also was a path of flares set out. They obviously were not expecting us and we met no oposition of any kind."

The Exchange Telegraph agency said that, altho there was no official confirmation, it understood that many Junkers 52's and giant Hansa transports had taken off from Aalborg for Norwegian territory carrying "both troops and some fairly heavy equipment, of the nature of light field or mountain guns."

Control of the air became increasingly important as Britain rushed troops across the North Sea to Norwegian landing points for the decisive test which, observers predicted, would take place in the Trondheim area. [Trondheim is almost 400 miles northeast of Kristiansand and 350 miles northeast of Stavanger.]

While bombs thundered down on faraway Scandinavian airfields, shells bursting over a town on England's southeast coast sent the 3,000 residents scurrying for shelter and punched shrapnel holes in roofs.

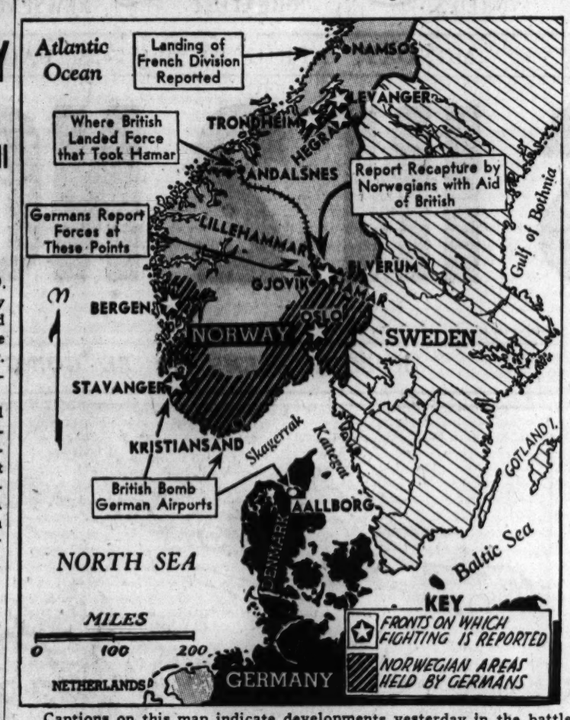
Anti-Aircraft Guns Busy.

No casualties were reported in the town and no bombs were dropped on land during the encounter, in which anti-aircraft batteries and naval guns fired on German planes.

The gunfire, heaviest along the coast since the start of the war, made many persons think that the town was being shelled from the sea. Among the roofs damaged was that of the police station.

Progress of the War in Norway

(Stories on page 1 and in adjoining columns.)



Captions on this map indicate developments yesterday in the battle between Germany and Britain, France, and Norway for control of Norway. British troops which landed at Andalsnes were carried to the Hamar sector by railroad.

AID TO SCANDINAVIAN WAR VICTIMS PLEDGED BY POLISH-AMERICANS

A pledge of aid to the needy victims of the German invasion of Norway, as to those of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, was forwarded by the Polish-American Council of Illinois yesterday to Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne, Norwegian envoy to the United States.

Incorporated in the message was the text of a resolution adopted by the members of the council, terming the occupation of Norway an act of bestiality by Nazi gangsters. The pledge was signed by J. K. Wieczorek, president, and V. M. Spunar, secretary.

The council also forwarded to James H. R. Cromwell, American minister to Canada, a resolution complimenting him on his speech of March 19 in which he sided with Great Britain and France against Germany.

GERMAN 'CHUTE TROOPS CARRY BIKES, WELDERS

LONDON, April 22, Monday (AP).—German parachute troops captured at Dombas, in central Norway, carried a variety of equipment, Exchange Telegraph said. It listed the following articles: Collapsible bicycles, machine-guns, radio transmitters and receivers, saws, wire cutters, cameras, and gas welding apparatus.

The Germans were reported to have forced 50 captured civilians to carry their equipment. Hand grenades were said to have killed 45 of the Nazis after they occupied a farm, and 150 then surrendered.

Four large German planes were shot down in the last 24 hours at Dombas, three by the Norwegians and one by the British, Exchange Telegraph said.

HITLER'S TROOPS GRAB CONTROL OF VITAL NORSE ZONE

Richest Parts of Country Under Their Sway.

OSLO, Norway, April 21 (AP).—The Germans appeared tonight to have pushed their occupied zone north of Oslo as far as the open, rolling ridges of the Hadeland district.

This advance has military significance because the Hadeland district gives the German forces access to the fertile Totten counties, to the northwest of which are Opland province and the strategic Valdres valley.

Evidence of the Germans' progress was seen in the requisitioning of almost all buses today to bring refugees from Oslo back to the capital from the Randsfjord lakes region, more than 30 miles to the north.

This advance means that the Germans have carved a huge pie-slice out of southern Norway, by far the most important area of the kingdom.

Richest Area Controled.

The German-occupied territory contains about 1,600,000 inhabitants—half of Norway's population—and the great bulk of her biggest industrial enterprises. Among them are important hydro-electric plants, nitrogen works, paper and pulp mills and most of her harbors, shipyards and dry docks.

With Oslo as the hub, the occupied area roughly describes an arc starting in Ostford province, bordering Sweden in the southeast corner of Norway, and swinging north and west thru Akershus, Buskerud, Vestfold, Telemark, Austagder, and Vestagder provinces.

Besides these, which appear to be under German control completely, the Nazis are said also to hold most of Rogaland province, on the Atlantic coast.

Norwegian Prisoners.

Thus, the whole coast from the Swedish border west along the Skagerrak and north up the Atlantic seaboard at least to Stavanger appears to be in German hands.

Broadcasts daily name Norwegians taken as war prisoners and give relatives permission to visit them.

Starting tomorrow, new rations will set limits of 8.8 ounces of sugar a week for each person and 2.8 ounces of coffee or .88 of an ounce of tea. Rations also have been fixed for feeding domestic animals.

Effective tomorrow also, bank withdrawals will be limited to 400 kroner except for wage accounts, pensions, taxes, rent, duties, and other specific purposes. [The Norwegian krone was quoted at 22.7 cents before the German invasion.]

The Norwegian Seamen's union broadcast a radio appeal to all seamen to obey orders from German-held Oslo so that food can be imported into occupied Norway.

SWEDEN KEEPS GUNS HOT FIRING AT NAZI PLANES

One Shot Down; Two Are Forced to Land.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 21.—Violations of Swedish territory by German warplanes became more frequent today. At least one German plane was shot down, and two others made forced landings on Swedish soil.

Many additional German planes heeded warning shots from Swedish guns and flew quickly back to Norwegian territory. The German plane shot down fell 15 miles north of Goteborg. The crew of four was rescued. A second plane disappeared into the night.

Make Forced Landings.

Two German planes made forced landings on Gotland Island, in the Baltic sea, and were burned by their crews, who were interned. One Norwegian plane made a forced landing in Sweden because of lack of fuel.

Still another German plane, one in a squadron of five which appeared above Trollhattan, was hit and believed to have crashed in the waters off the Swedish west coast.

Fifteen German bombers were chased into Norwegian territory. The effect of all this air activity was to increase tension and apprehension thruout Sweden.

Sweden Is Prepared.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 21 (AP).—Holding steadily to her policy of neutrality, Sweden was reported tonight to have attained the peak of preparedness against any attempt to violate her borders.

Ever since September, when the European war began, Sweden has been strengthening her "neutrality guard" program. It was stepped up rapidly during the Finnish-Russian war and even more so in the last two weeks, during which Germany has invaded Sweden's sister states in Scandinavia.

There are numerous evidences of the military preparedness. Horses are tethered in small public parks near barracks. One esplanade in a residential sector has been occupied by soldiers. They guard an antiaircraft gun and receive machine gun lectures and demonstrations.

Many Shelters Built.

Foreigners are barred from military zones. Travel thruout Sweden is carefully regulated.

Stockholm now has several hundred air shelters, a few of which could house several thousand people.

The first Swedish coal boat to come thru the new German-British mine fields reached Goteborg last night after a 17 day trip from the Shetland islands. The boat was attacked by unidentified war planes during the voyage, but was not damaged.

Miss Bankhead, the daughter of Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead, will be presented over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network in a special play entitled "Hurricane."

3 KILLED, 50 HURT AS MOSLEM RIOTS FLARE IN INDIA

LUCKNOW, India, April 21 (AP).—At least three persons were killed and 50 injured today in intermittent clashes between Moslem groups when the Shia sect objected to a street procession by the Sunni sect.

The Shias were incensed because of a donkey in the procession with the word "Tabarra" painted on its back, "Tabarra" being the title of a song sacred to the Sunnis but offensive to the Shias.

11 Killed in Rioting.

RANGOON, Burma, April 21 (AP).—Eleven persons were killed and 69 were injured in Hindu-Moslem rioting yesterday and today arising from Moslem celebrations honoring the birthday of Mohammed.

Polish Army Chiefs Made Knights by Great Britain

ANGERS, France, April 21.—The grand cross of the most excellent order of the British empire was awarded today to Gen. Vladislas Sikorski, commander in chief of the Polish army in France. The British ambassador here, Sir Howard Kennard, presented the honor. Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkoeski, hero of the Lvov battles in September, who broke thru the German lines and escaped across the Carpathian mountains, was made a knight commander of the same order.

NAZIS WORRIED BY SHORTAGE OF GAS IN NORWAY

Hear They Are Flying Fuel for Use in Planes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 21.—Messages from Norway indicating that Norwegian stores of gasoline were not as ample as German officials had expected caused concern in influential business circles in Berlin today.

The powerful reconnaissance planes and bombers which are scouring the northern seas for British ships consume large quantities of fuel. Swedish circles claim the Germans have started flying gas to Norway. This is a costly and tedious process.

Norwegian "Irregulars."

The German press is beginning to speak of the "Norwegian irregulars and insurgents" allegedly harassing German troops. This confirms the reports circulating in Berlin that the German troops have received orders "to give no quarter to their enemies in Norway."

When the Germans entered Poland they also charged that irregulars had attacked their troops and claimed the right to execute all such persons charged with having borne arms against the Germans.

Claim Rapid Advances.

BERLIN, April 21 (AP).—The German high command reported tonight that German troops in Norway were making rapid progress in all directions. One fighting group, the communique said, had pushed northward about 30 miles past Hamar and a few miles beyond Lillehammer. Other German troops were said to be near Gjovik, across Mjosa lake from Hamar.

[Lillehammar is 25 airline miles north of Hamar, which the Norwegian legation in Stockholm said had been recaptured from the Germans by Norwegian and British forces.]

Germany and Britain apparently are in a race to see which can occupy most of Norway before coming to decisive grips.

Military observers here, speculating on the purpose of a British-French force reported landed at the west Norwegian port of Andalsnes, said the strategy probably was to try to establish contact with Norwegians in central Norway.

Twelve Days of Action.

The strategic importance of the central region lies in its valleys, which afford reasonably good communications in the mountainous kingdom, and the railroad connecting Hamar and Andalsnes.

In the 12 days of action in Scandinavian waters, Germany in unofficial reports has said she has inflicted the following losses on the British fleet:

Five cruisers, 10 destroyers, and eight submarines sunk.

One cruiser beached.

Four battleships, seven battle and heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, and one airplane carrier badly damaged.

As many as seven British transport ships sunk or damaged.

The air force accounted for the lion's share of these claims.

[The British have denied most of the German claims, but have acknowledged the sinking of four destroyers in naval fights.]

The high command's communique said the British bombarded Narvik from the sea yesterday afternoon but did not try to land troops.

Norse Vessels Sunk.

The high command also reported several small Norwegian war vessels sunk in Hardanger fjord by German sea forces, a land battery silenced there, and a former Polish destroyer sunk by a German submarine northeast of the Shetland islands.

Infantry and artillery reinforcements, it said, are being sent to Trondheim and Germans in the Bergen and Stavanger coastal areas are extending the occupied zone "and wiping up smaller Norwegian forces."

The nation still was stirred emotionally in the afterglow of observances of Adolf Hitler's 51st birthday anniversary yesterday. While the Storm Troopers concluded the birthday demonstrations with expressions of fervent faith in the Fuehrer, Victor Lutze, their chief, today told a mass meeting of the Brown-Shirted S. A. that this war basically is a revolution of men against capitalism. Lutze declared:

"It is more than a war against Poland or England. It is capital against labor. It is gold against blood. It is an outworn system against blood."

Denies Hore-Belisha and Actor's Former Wife Wed

CANNES, France, April 21.—A report published in Paris today of the marriage of Leslie Hore-Belisha former British war minister, and Mme. Jacqueline de Lubac, former wife of Sacha Guitry, actor, was denied tonight by Joseph Goldman, with whom Hore-Belisha is staying here.

[A dispatch from London stated that many of Leslie Hore-Belisha's associates said his frequent trips to visit the beautiful Jacqueline de Lubac were responsible for his ouster from Britain's war cabinet. He gave up the war ministry last January.]

WITNESS TEARS MYSTERY FROM POLAND OF REDS

Russia's Might and Its Weakness Bared.

The parade lasted more than two hours and showed the great variety of modern equipment that the Russian armies possessed.

Overhead airplanes droned, flying so low as almost to touch the roofs of the houses. There were picked regiments of infantry. The men were well equipped, but there was no march discipline, and each soldier chose his own way of carrying a rifle.

Many of the airplanes I saw were of obsolete types. Some were biplanes. But the large four engined bombers, of new design and strongly armed, looked most formidable. These were by far the biggest airplanes I have seen anywhere.

Breakdowns Are Frequent.

It turned out, however, that most of this mechanized equipment was not nearly so good as first appeared. Some of it did not stand up even to the strain of peacetime demands. The number of breakdowns in tanks, tractors, and lorries was surprising. Everywhere, in streets and on highroads, one met stranded units with their crews feverishly trying to repair them or hauling them away. But one saw nowhere the meticulous care that the British soldier gives to his equipment. Many of the engines I saw had patches of rust. Frequently repairs were made with odd bits of wire or pieces of metal.

The gasoline used may explain a good many of these breakdowns. It is badly refined and of poor quality. When a Russian tank or lorry passes, the smell is nauseating and the fumes almost suffocating, reminding one strongly of a badly trimmed oil stove that has been allowed to smoke for some time.

Well, there you have a picture of the Red army as it first appeared in Poland: rather slovenly, apparently well equipped, but really not so good as it looked.

War Works a Change.

When the Finnish war broke out there was a great change. The tanks, heavy guns and most of the lorries disappeared from Lvov with the first-line troops. Horse-drawn vehicles took the place of the mechanized units, and second-line troops of low standard took over the garrison. Their physique was poor, their clothing unsuitable. In the bitter cold of January, as low as 55 degrees Fahrenheit below freezing, most of the men had no gloves; their overcoats were of a thin flimsy material and unlined.

Many of the first-line soldiers had serviceable looking long sleeved waistcoats well padded. The second-line men had none of these. Instead of high Russian boots they had half-boots and puttees.

Now let us look more closely at the officers and men of the Red army. There is not much between them, for the law on which the organization of the army is based decrees that all its members are equal. In fact, there is no difference between officers and men except on duty. The dress is the same for all ranks. The only distinguishing mark is a badge on the collar.

Generally all ranks live together. It was usual to see officers take meals with their men and even share the common bowl. They all address one another simply as "tovarich" [comrade]. Privates do not salute officers in the streets, nor do they offer them their seats in trolley cars or trains.

A major general was quartered with a Polish friend of mine. Any morning the general could be seen polishing his boots, with one or two privates looking on and giving him advice.

Education is practically unknown to the average Russian officer. It is rarely that one of them can read Latin characters. Their ignorance of conditions abroad is astonishing; nevertheless, they are convinced they know all there is worth knowing. Every soldier and every officer at Lvov appeared to be a trained agitator; given the slightest chance, they let off a stream of propaganda, talk.

Reds Get a Surprise.

At the same time, the Russians were surprised at what they saw in Poland. They had always been told that standards of life in capitalist countries were much below the Russian level. Poland opened their eyes. Some of them quite lost their heads. Let me tell you how it happened.

When the Red army marched into Poland, the Polish zloty was worth five Russian roubles. One of the first things the Russians did was to fix the value of the rouble at par with the zloty. As a result, the Russian soldiers found shopping extremely cheap. There was a run on all the shops and an orgy of buying took place.

I used to see soldiers go from shop to shop just buying anything they saw. Some articles they could not resist. Among these were watches and clocks, textiles, woolen clothes and boots. They were irresistible because they were extremely scarce in Russia or beyond the means of the average person.

But I have seen Russian soldiers buy plenty of things they did not know how to use. I was in a shop when a man bought a tube of face cream. He opened it then and there and squeezed its contents into his mouth, only to eject it with much sputtering. He was surprised to learn that this was not a food, but something to be applied to the skin.

Officers Buy Civilian Garb.

Soviet officers, too, made full use of the increased value of their money. They bought chiefly civilian suits and coats. I was in need of an overcoat but could not get any attention for six weeks from my tailor because he had so many orders from soviet officers.

I wondered at first why these Russians bought civilian outfits. Later there were rumors that many officers used those clothes as a disguise to enable them to slip across the border into Hungary or Rumania. I do not say this is true; but it is a fact that in the end the tailors of Lvov were officially forbidden to accept orders for civilian suits from members of the Red army of occupation.

British Flyers Shoot Down 4 German Planes on West Front

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—The air ministry said tonight that British flyers shot down four, and possibly six, German warplanes in fights over the western front during the day.

Except for a slightly wounded British airman who made a successful forced landing, the ministry said, the British were unscathed.

In the first fight, it was declared, eight British fighter planes engaged 12 German Messerschmitts near Saarlautern and shot down two. A third was said to have been driven down, apparently out of control.

The Germans lost two other Messerschmitts in a later battle, the British said, and a sixth German plane "is believed to have been destroyed."

Artillery Active, Say French.

PARIS, April 21 (AP).—The British-French communique tonight said: "Artillery actions in the Blies [river] region."

Nazis' Repulse Enemy Patrols.

BERLIN, April 21.—Germany's high command reported today:

"In the west, southwest of Saarlautern and southwest of Bergzabern, enemy patrol undertakings were costly to the enemy, but were repulsed without loss to ourselves."

Five British-French airplanes were officially reported to have been shot down by Germans yesterday.

More Flights Over Belgium.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 21 (AP).—Aerial activity over Belgian territory by German and English planes was noted today and last night by the government, which announced it would protest to Berlin and London.

FRENCH PUNISH 68 TRADERS FOR PRICE INCREASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 21.—Sixty-eight merchants have been punished by French courts for the illegal raising of prices, it was disclosed today. The sentences range from 16 days to three months in prison coupled with fines of 16 to 500 francs. [The franc is worth 2 cents in American money.]

In addition, 12 business men were ordered to close their doors for periods of from 8 to 30 days because they had charged excessive prices.

...in BOWMAN'S Homogenized MILK
WITH VITAMIN "D"

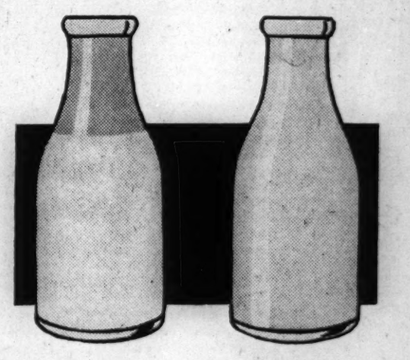
A new milk... even more delicious, with even greater food value!

● You'll agree, the minute you try this wonderful new milk of Bowman's, that it has a new, richer taste, a creamy, delicious goodness that's just tops! It's called Bowman's Homogenized Milk, and you should order it for your whole family today!

Bowman's Homogenized Milk is pure, fresh pasteurized milk that has been given a special treatment to even further improve both flavor and food value. Homogenization is a process by which the butterfat particles are literally blasted into very fine particles, under terrific pressure. Instead of rising to the top of the milk, as cream, these tiny globules remain suspended evenly in the milk, from the cap clear to the bottom. Every glassful of Bowman's Homogenized Milk is equally rich in the cream that makes it so extra delicious!

More than that, Bowman's Homogenized Milk is even more beneficial as a food because it's been Irradiated . . . has a rich supply of the Vitamin D that protects teeth and bones. It comes in both one and two-quart bottles. Be sure to try it!

NO CREAM LINE!



In regular milk the large particles of butterfat separate from the rest of the milk and rise to the top. This is what forms the familiar "cream line."

In homogenized milk, these butterfat particles are broken up into such small units they remain in suspension throughout the milk!

SWISS, LIKE THEIR WATCHES, TICK ON EVEN DURING WAR

Stout Hearted Army Gives Nation Confidence.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, April 21.—Swiss soldiers are on guard, streets are barricaded and machine guns are in evidence everywhere but there is no sign of tension in Basel. There seems to be a complete understanding and mutual respect on all sides. In the military zone, the French, Germans, and Swiss are all killing time lounging about, while the civilian population goes about its daily routine.

The only activity near the Maginot and Siegfried lines in this sector is an occasional freight boat on the Rhine river. Water separating the two lines of fortifications is about 200 yards wide here and the current is fairly swift.

Sentries Bar Visitors.

Sentries will not let visitors approach the forts. The German line comes right up to the town's edge on the west, while the Maginot line extends some 400 yards farther up the river into the town proper.

Some fresh troops, including a bicycle corps, infantry and mounted artillery, moved into the city during the morning. General territorial troops are replacing farm soldiers who are being sent back to the land to put in their crops.

Switzerland, with a total population of less than 5 million, has 250,000 men in the army, and claims a full million could be placed in the line within three months. The age limit is from 62 years down.

Expects No Trouble.

Altho it is strictly neutral and expecting no trouble, there is no foolishness about this thrifty little country. If it is invaded, there is going to be a fight, and a stiff one, too. The Swiss are good natural soldiers and familiar with firearms. Practically all men folks have their own arms and ammunition at home.

The government expresses no fear, but spokesmen calmly state that if an emergency happens, all is in readiness. Some rumors by subversive propagandists have gone abroad that the country is not prepared, but a casual ride around the town shows convincingly that Basel is ready for an attack.

A delightful place, Basel has a population of 200,000, and is particularly attractive after being in depressing Berlin.

SLEET WRECKS POWER LINES.

CALGARY, Alta., April 21 (AP).—A sleet storm swept from the north to wreck power lines, telegraph, and telephone systems within a radius of 70 miles of Calgary during the week-end. Early tonight more than a dozen towns east and northwest of Calgary were without power.

Makeup Makes Clown

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Happy Kellem, clown with Greater Olympia circus, before and after donning makeup.

For 15 years Happy Kellem [he was christened Happy] has been trying to live up to his name and make others feel the same way. He is regarded as one of the greatest clowns in the circus business and is now performing with the Greater Olympia circus at the Chicago Stadium.

Reviewing highlights of his career yesterday, Happy said he had traveled around the world twice with circuses. He hails from Evansville, Ind., is 34 years old and—note to feminine circus fans—is a bachelor.

The circus will continue at the Stadium until May 5.

GERMAN BOMBER COMES DOWN AT SWISS AIRPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, April 21.—Basel residents rushed to the streets at 1:30 o'clock this morning when a German Dornier bomber began circling over the city. Crews rushed to their antiaircraft guns and prepared for action.

The bomber suddenly signaled for the Basel airport lights to be turned on and, when this was done, made a landing. On the side of the craft was painted a comic picture of Winston Churchill, British war chief.

The ship and its crew, consisting of an officer and three men, were interned. There was much speculation as to why they came down here. A German airport is only 20 minutes away and level German territory is within gliding distance.

[Another Basel dispatch said the bomber ran out of gas after a scouting trip over France.]

U. S. Legation Wives Flee Bombed Town; in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 21 (AP).—Wives of United States legation officials in Norway were removed to Sweden tonight. They reached Fjallness from Lillehammer, Norway, which was bombed and machine-gunned by German planes earlier in the day.

THREE WOMEN DROWNED.

TIAJUANA, Mexico, April 21 (AP).—Three young women were drowned today when a small motorboat carrying 14 persons capsized near Rodriguez dam, 12 miles east of here.

'LABOR AND ARMS' OUR WATCHWORD, DUCE TELLS ITALY

Proclaims Slogan at Rome Anniversary Rite.

ROME, April 21 (AP).—Premier Mussolini in a two sentence speech gave "labor and arms" as the watchword of the Italian people today in the face of developments in the European war, while Giovanni Ansaldo underscored his warning of a week ago that Italy could not remain permanently outside the conflict.

Mussolini proclaimed the slogan from the balcony of Palazzo Venezia after responding to cheers of a crowd gathered to celebrate the 2,692d birthday anniversary of Rome, Italy's Labor day. He said:

"In this particular, eventful moment and on this day of the festival of labor the watchword is labor and arms. I am certain this watchword will be heeded by all the Italian people from the Alps to the seas of the empire."

Calls for Powerful Arms.

Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's newspaper, Il Telegrafo of Leghorn, predicted the victors of the war would attempt to "take possession of the whole world."

He reiterated the necessity of Italy being powerfully armed if she hoped to be on the side of the victors.

In a broadcast to the Italian armed forces, Ansaldo referred to his statement of a week ago when he said that "all Italians who think our country can remain out of the present conflict up to the end are mistaken and delude themselves . . ."

Today he said he had "no word to add and none to subtract" from last Sunday's declaration. He forecast a dire future for losers in the war.

Sees Losers Exploited.

"They will be subjected to expropriation," he said. "They will be exploited in every possible manner. They will be reduced to the state of Chinese coolies compelled to toil for others.

"There is not a shred of internationalism which can save tomorrow's vanquished from this fate. The victors will attempt to take possession of the whole world and there is no fine promise which can make them do otherwise.

"The supreme interests of Italian workers rest with Italy's might. Only if Italy is strong, very strong, militarily will they be able to be in one way or another among the conquerors."

Today's newspapers refrain from repeating their recent attacks on the British and French. While German military exploits continue to dominate their war news they all reported the concentration of considerable British and French forces near Trondheim, Norway, and said an important battle was imminent in that sector.

France to Take Part in Fair.

PARIS, April 21 (AP).—The French government, seeking Italian friendship, appointed an important delegation today to the Milan fair.

A commerce ministry communique said Leon Barety, a deputy and president of the French expositions committee, was named chairman of the delegation. Several foreign trade advisers also were appointed.

200 Sick and Wounded Soldiers Reach England

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—About 200 sick and wounded soldiers, most of them stretcher cases, arrived at Orpington, Kent, tonight. It was understood some of them were members of the British army in France.

AMO—AMAS—AMAT

By CALEB

BURIED among some forgotten books the other day I found two souvenirs of my long-ago youth: a Commentarii Caesaris and an Orationes Ciceronis. And what memories from the dungeoned subconscious their discovery lugged up again into momentary daylight!

I was a daydreamer stripling once more—walking into classes of a bright Spring morning with a score of my kind. Caesar (at least the immortal part of him) was tucked under our arms, and everybody stood timorously expectant, as our formidable Miss Tinkham assumed her throne and smiled her bleak, collective "Good Morning." I can still see, too, the rigid lines of italics where a Roman general not given to wasting words set down, in his terse diction, Omnia Gallia in tres partes divisa est.

I liked Latin. Caesar—in our vernacular—was "pie." Cicero, however, was of another breed; downright hard going. I thought, and still think, him too much the orator. Words were his forte, but our undoing. And how that fiery little Senator could deploy them! How his blistering denunciations smote the defiant head of Catiline like brickbats! Certain fragments of that intricate eloquence of his still stick in memory's gullet.

Vergil and his rolling hexameters, on the other hand, we learned to declaim with relish. To one pupil, at least, he was a joy. Arma virumque cano, Trojae qui primus ab oris, rang the opening strain (I can hear its music yet). And then followed, Italiam fato profugus Lavinaque venit. "Arms and the man I sing" . . . Shaw made a play titled from that ancient AENEID; and the melody of those cantos——! No wonder Tennyson spoke of him as "Landscape-lover, lord of language," and recalled "All the charm of all the Muses often flowering in a lonely word"!

Seven years of Latin, in all, I managed to imbibe—coming up yesterday's educational road. And somehow, as I held those shabby old textbooks in hand again, I was glad for so many libations. Latin a dead language? So they say. Yet to it our own tongue owes some sixty per cent of its body and beauty, both in word-forms and in root meanings; while on that same golden pedestal stands the whole "Romance" group of world-languages: Italian, French, Spanish, Portuguese and their cousins. . . .

No longer, I understand, is Latin the bill-of-fare favorite that youth used to find it. If so, I can only deplore—for any modern curriculum that lacks Caesar I say lacks savor as well! Ever since worthy Chaucer's day Latin has been warp and woof of our communications—and he who would think, read, write or speak at his best will come nearer reaching that best with benefit of Latinity than without.

FRENCH SPEAKER SEES MAGINOT AS SYMBOL FOR U. S.

Paints War Line as Shield for Civilization.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 21.—A pointed reference to the United States was made today by Louis Jacquinot, undersecretary of state at the ministry of the interior. He spoke at ceremonies honoring André Maginot at Varennes, the Argonne hamlet captured from the Germans in September, 1918, by the 28th division of the American Expeditionary force. A delegation of American war veterans took part in the exercises.

In his eulogy of Maginot, Jacquinot said: "The name of Maginot is venerated in the Meuse department at the front and in all of France. It has crossed our frontiers and those of Europe. Even America exalts him, and the newspapers beyond the Atlantic bring us echoes of him.

Rampart Against "Barbarity."

"Is not the Maginot line the rampart where German barbarity was stopped and where it was dashed to pieces? Is it not the shield of a civilization which is made up liberty and humanity?

"Our American friends know it is so. They know that the reasons for fighting have never been clearer than at present. They know also that every Frenchman is resolved to fight until the hour of victory, no matter how arduous that task may be."

Tribute Paid to A. E. F.

Following the dedication of André Maginot square, Franco-American ceremonies were held before the Pennsylvania memorial in Varennes. Here, Dr. E. J. Ortion, European commander of the American military order of foreign wars, paid tribute to the A. E. F. soldiers who fell in France in 1917 and 1918. Jacquinot replied briefly in a second speech, recalling his war service in the Argonne.

[Andre Maginot was responsible for the building of the powerful French military machine. As minister of war after the world war, which he entered as a private, Maginot fought hard to realize his dream of a strong system of fortifications from Belgium to Switzerland. He had been severely wounded in the leg by a piece of shrapnel, but carried on his work until his death in January, 1932. He was buried beside a son who was killed in the war.]

WOMAN KILLED IN COLLISION OF 2 MOTORCYCLES

Tragedy Ends Cavalcade Out of Hammond.

A motorcycle cavalcade out of Hammond, Ind., ended on 95th street near Stony Island avenue yesterday when two of the machines collided and Miss Hazel Newman, 24 years old, 961 Wilcox street, Hammond, a telephone operator, was hurled to the pavement and fatally injured. The motorcyclists were on their way to a picnic.

Policeman Sidney Moss of the South Chicago station said Miss Newman was riding on a motorcycle driven by Earl Harwood, 36, of 536 Lotus street, Hammond. At the end of the line, directly behind Harwood, rode John Lewin, 24, of 525 Tomkins street, Gary, whose passenger was Signe Molenaar, 21, of 5741 Calumet avenue, Hammond.

Lewin said he struck the bumper of a passing car, lost control of his machine, and ran into Harwood. Both machines overturned. Harwood and Lewin were slightly bruised. Miss Molenaar was unhurt.

Killed in Collision.

Paul W. Murray, 22, of 2454 Lincoln avenue, a radio mechanic, was killed at Montana street and Racine avenue when his automobile and one driven by Leonard Nosek, 2526 Wayne avenue, collided.

Michael Karakas, 45 years old, 927 Mannheim road, Westchester, a WPA worker, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile at Mannheim road and Harrison street, Westchester. The driver, Carl Overton, 23, of 163 North Lamon avenue, said the accident was unavoidable.

Elvis Deen, 21, of Hammond, was killed yesterday near Furnessville when he drove his motorcycle into the path of a car driven by Eugene Taylor of Gary. His widow and two children survive.

Stenographer Killed, 5 Hurt.

Miss Dolores Kolodziej, 22, of 2240 South Sacramento avenue, a stenographer, was killed and five persons were injured in a headon collision in Milwaukee avenue, a half mile north of the Cook-Lake county line.

Those injured are Miss Kolodziej's sister, Alice, 28; Walter Wallbaum, 26, of 5649 Wellington avenue; Miss Elsie Krueger, 26, of 815 North Lawndale avenue, and William Gajewski Jr., 27, of 2520 North California avenue, who were in a car driven by Wallbaum, and Nick Petzen, 38, of 1106 State road, driver of the other car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 262 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 196 were killed in Chicago, where 6,143 were injured in automobile accidents in the same period.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Gilbert Gross, 47 years old, 894 Linden avenue, Winnetka, was found dead in his apartment last night, presumably a victim of a heart attack. Police said he formerly had been in the stock business.

SPEED COUNTS IN BASE-RUNNING—BUT IN A CIGARETTE IT'S SLOW BURNING THAT COUNTS WITH ME. SLOWER-BURNING CAMELS GIVE ME THE BIG 'EXTRAS' IN SMOKING PLEASURE—AND EXTRA SMOKING, TOO

YOU SEE THE FLASH OF SPIKES, the white blur of the ball whipping across the diamond, a cloud of dust—and you hold your breath. But he's safe at second by a split second! Yes, it's another stolen base for George Case. He stole 51 bases last season...led the major leagues...won wide acclaim as the "fastest man in baseball." It makes your legs ache to watch him, he runs so hard...so fast. But when George lights up a cigarette, speed is out. "No fast burning for me," he says. "I always smoke the slower-burning brand...Camel. Camels give me several big extras in smoking."

OFF THE DIAMOND, George Case (above, right) prefers a slower pace...he likes to fish...smokes Camels a lot. He says: "Slower-burning Camels are more than mild—they're extra mild and extra cool. The more I smoke Camels, the more I like their full, rich flavor." Yes, the more you smoke Camels, the more you'll appreciate their extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor.

FARLEY'S STAMP GYRATIONS ARE CALLED A RACKET

Hobbyists Point to Huge Number of Issues.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Postmaster General James A. Farley was accused yesterday by several leading Chicago stamp collectors and dealers of seriously damaging a fine educational and recreational hobby by racketeering and commercialism in flooding the market with new issues.

Farley already has put out 21 commemorative varieties of stamps this year and will bring out at least 16 more. This will raise the total of these varieties for the eight years of the New Deal to 122, 15 more than were printed in the whole preceding 40 year period in which the United States has had this type of stamps.

Collectors Tell Their Story.

Collectors and dealers made these assertions:

1. Farley has "made suckers" out of philatelists by forcing them to purchase so many new stamps if they wish to keep their collections up to date. He has worked a particular hardship on young collectors, who cannot afford to buy these issues.

2. Farley's actions threaten to make the collecting of United States stamps merely a job of accumulation, not a recreational pastime.

3. Collectors are becoming disgusted and are changing their interests from United States to foreign stamps. This has depressed the market for dealers.

4. Legitimate investors in stamps have realized there can be no profit in their holdings and are dumping large blocks, further hurting the market. The sales of the philatelic agency in Washington—a branch of the postoffice department which sells stamps direct to collectors and dealers—decreased from a high of $2,340,484 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, to $1,312,016 in the year ended last June 30.

Youngsters Are Run Ragged.

"Some of the new issues aren't worth mounting in an album," said Arden L. Van Nest, president of the Chicago Philatelic society. "And tens of thousands of young boys and girls who are starting in the stamp collecting hobby thruout the country are being run ragged by Farley. He is playing them for revenue to reduce the postal deficit."

"There certainly is no postal need for so many new stamps," said Ralph A. Kimble, editor of the American Philatelist, oldest stamp magazine in the western hemisphere. "It's commercialism of the worst sort."

Omits United States Issues.

A. Baumann of the International Stamp company, 58 West Washington street, said that he has stopped dealing in new United States issues.

"Farley is working a racket," he declared. "He's reducing the value of our country's stamps. Let him and President Roosevelt stick to politics and leave stamps alone."

Commemorative stamps are issued to honor persons or events in history, and occasions of national or local importance. The first series ever issued—in 1893—was the Columbian exposition commemoratives.

The following table shows, by presidential terms, the number of different commemorative stamps issued:

President.	Terms.	Stamps.
Cleveland	1893-1897	16
McKinley	1897-1901	9
McKinley and Roosevelt	1901-1905	11
Roosevelt	1905-1909	3

The total of 64 under President Roosevelt's present term includes all the commemoratives issued and announced for this year. If a collector bought only one item of each of the 122 varieties issued by Farley, it would cost him $7.16 at face value as compared to $1.97 for 48 varieties in the eight years from 1925 to 1933, under the Coolidge and Hoover administrations. And many collectors purchase more than one item of each variety.

The peak year of sales was 1935, when $2,340,484.21 was taken in at the agency. This was the year the Farley "Follies" were sold to the public. The "Follies," another incident for which philatelists have never forgiven the postmaster general, will be the subject of the next article in this series.

FARLEY ASKS BIG 'ARMY AND NAVY FOR U. S. DEFENSE

Boston, Mass., April 21 (AP).—Postmaster General James A. Farley tonight advocated a long range program to bring the United States army and navy to the fullest possible state of preparedness for national defense.

A candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, the national committee chairman at the same time voiced approval of the trade agreements negotiated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and described as "remarkably outstanding" the record of President Roosevelt, Hull, and the administration in keeping America out of war.

Farley urged that the United States extend financial assistance to its American neighbors for the development of noncompetitive resources and recommended economic cooperation with the peaceful nations of the world. Asserting that the nation's first line of defense is to avoid possibility of involvement in the current war, the postmaster general added: "Keeping neutral is might hard, and it is not done by being weak."

PARTY CONCLAVE SEASON TO OPEN IN CHICAGO TODAY

County Leaders Hold First Post-Primary Meetings.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The first of the quadrennial series of three conventions of both major political parties which follow the Illinois primaries will be held today. They are the county conventions which pave the way for the state conventions, which, in turn, prepare for the big national conventions.

The indications yesterday were that the most important event today will be the Cook county Democratic convention in the Morrison hotel. That gathering again will elect its veteran chairman, P. A. Nash, for a two year term, will reëlect its other officers and will notify each ward and township committeeman how many delegates he may name for the state convention in Springfield.

G. O. P. Delay Expected.

The Cook county Republican convention is scheduled for this afternoon but the members of the county committee already have agreed that it will be recessed for one week so winning ward committeemen may have their certificates of election when they take their seats. The contests were held in the April 9 primaries.

The Chicago election board has promised to issue its proclamation of primary results this morning, but after that official announcement the figures for the board's territory must be added to the figures for 528 precincts under the jurisdiction of County Clerk M. J. Flynn before the county totals will be fixed with finality. The complete county figures, at least unofficially, may be made public before night.

Expect State Figures Later.

Official state totals will not be known until all 102 counties in the state have transmitted their counts to Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes at Springfield and his office has completed the big task of tabulating for the state canvassing board. Most of the downstate counties have reported, and when Cook turns in its figures the task will be speeded up with the hope that it will be completed before May 9, the day set by the primary law for the organization of the new state committees of both parties.

Partly because of this situation and partly to gain time for straightening out intraparty affairs, it is the present intention to recess both the state conventions which, under the primary law, must meet in Springfield next Friday. The actual business sessions probably will be held in May.

Await Leaders' Return.

The state Democratic organization wants to hold off its program until the return of Harry B. Hershey, nominee for governor, from a rest he has been taking since the campaign. He may make the keynote speech at the state convention.

The Republicans also have been waiting for Dwight H. Green, their nominee for the governorship, to return to Chicago. He came in from Florida yesterday by airplane to attend the funeral of former State Senator Harry G. Wright, one of his downstate managers, at De Kalb.

Green said that under the circumstances he felt he should not discuss politics. He said his stay in Florida had been devoted almost entirely to relaxation and that he wished to familiarize himself with developments during his absence before talking about such subjects as the county and state conventions.

War Becoming an Ever Larger Factor in Shaping Campaign

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The war is becoming an increasingly important factor in the presidential election. It is figuring prominently in the nomination contests in both major parties and is casting its shadow upon the November battle of the ballots that will decide which party is to control the national government in the next four years.

Current developments suggest that the outcome of the election may be determined by the comparative number of those Americans who would keep the United States out of any war except an attack upon our soil and those who would enter the war to check Japanese aggression and insure the defeat of Germany.

In the Democratic party the war is being employed chiefly as an argument for the renomination of President Roosevelt for a third term. No one, third term boomers contend, is so well qualified as Mr. Roosevelt to steer the destinies of the United States thru the stormy seas of the wars raging in both hemispheres.

Say Experience Is Needed.

To assure the American people the benefit of his wisdom and experience in dealing with foreign questions, the argument runs, it is incumbent upon the Democratic party to renominate Mr. Roosevelt, notwithstanding the unwritten law limiting the presidential tenure to eight years.

Mr. Roosevelt, with the reluctance of that self-depreciation for which he is renowned, has subscribed to this view. He has confided to his intimates, even to a confessed opponent for the nomination, Postmaster General James A. Farley, that he will not accept renomination unless the international situation at the time is so serious as clearly to require his continuance in office.

Mr. Roosevelt, of course, is to be the judge of the gravity of the crisis compelling him to sacrifice private ease to public duty, for he is amply apprised by this time that the Democratic national convention will renominate him unless he declines the honor.

G. O. P. Aspirants Oppose War.

On the Republican side the attitude of the contestants toward war issues is being scrutinized closely and debated. All of the principal contenders—Thomas E. Dewey, Arthur H. Vandenberg, and Robert A. Taft—have declared themselves in favor of keeping the country out of any war short of an invasion of this hemisphere and have assailed Mr. Roosevelt as an internationalist who cannot be relied upon to keep us out of war.

In an attempt to impeach the sincerity of Dewey, Congressman George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.] recalled a New York speech some months ago in which the district attorney said that the Roosevelt foreign policy is essentially that of Republican administrations prior to 1933. That utterance, according to Tinkham, indicated that Dewey is as much of an internationalist as Roosevelt, who in his Chicago bridge speech advocated the quarantining of aggressor nations.

A similar attempt has been made to show that Senator Taft could not be relied upon to keep the country out of war, because he supported President Roosevelt's successful demand for the repeal of the arms embargo in order to aid Great Britain and France and injure Germany in the European war.

Vandenberg Is Unswerving.

Unimpeached so far on this score is the record of Senator Vandenberg who not only is an outstanding critic of the Roosevelt foreign policy as one likely to involve us in war but, with the late Senator William E. Borah, led the fight against the repeal of the arms embargo as a step toward war.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated in his Warm Springs speech last night that, if he runs again, a major plank in his platform will be the boast that he has kept us out of war, as in the case of Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

That "kept us out of war" slogan reëlected Wilson, tho unknown to the American people at the time he had entered into a secret agreement with the British government to bring the United States into the war if necessary to defeat Germany. He carried out his contract after the election.

May Split Both Parties.

Such an issue would split both parties and also the country geographically. Along the eastern seaboard there is noticeable sentiment in favor of getting into the war, if necessary to save Great Britain and France from defeat. In the interior of the country the sentiment is palpably against becoming involved in the war at any cost.

In New York a certain coolness on the part of regular contributors to Republican campaign funds has been encountered because of the expectation that Dewey, a youthful tyro in international affairs, is the presumptive Republican nominee. It appeared that these eastern Republicans would prefer Roosevelt to Dewey, presumably because of the President's strong anti-German attitude.

PRIMARY TOTALS INDICATE RISING G. O. P. SENTIMENT

Party Votes 30% Greater in 21st District.

Springfield, Ill., April 21 [Special].—Assembling of the official totals of the vote cast in the April 9 primary in the four counties constituting the 21st or Springfield congressional district showed today that there is a rising tide of Republican sentiment in central Illinois.

The four counties, Christian, Macoupin, Morgan, and Sangamon, cast 48,951 Republican votes this year, an increase of 30 per cent over the 37,526 cast by the party in 1938, 12.2 per cent over the 43,607 of the last preceding presidential year, 1936, and 34 per cent over the off year total of 36,402 in 1934.

All Canvasses Not Complete.

The official certificates of all the 102 county clerks of the state are not yet in the hands of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. They are expected next week, but the canvasses have been completed in this quartet of counties and the experts around the statehouse consider the results a fair indication of the trend in the downstate area as a whole, another portent of Republican victory in November.

Thomas E. Dewey, presidential pref.	42,739
Evan Howell, congressman	23,259
B. S. DeBoice, natl. conv. delegate	37,038
Omer Poos, natl. conv. delegate	27,074
Wayland Brooks, United States senator	27,099
Dwight H. Green, governor	30,522
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	16,851
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	13,857
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	3,251
Warren Wright, state treasurer	25,667
George F. Barrett, attorney general	10,220
W. G. Stratton, congressman at large	21,136
Stephen A. Day, congressman at large	13,241

Fell Behind Dewey.

De Boice and Poos, the two elected delegates to the national convention, like Dewey, were unopposed, but even in their home territory they fell far behind him.

Dewey's total of 42,739 offered a contrast to the total cast in the district in the 1936 presidential preference—38,818, which was divided between two contestants, the late Senator William E. Borah, who received 22,167 votes, and Frank Knox, who received 16,651.

IDENTIFIES LAKE VICTIM AS BROTHER.

Policeman William Jennings of the Hyde Park station yesterday identified as his brother, the body of a man taken from the lake at 55th street Saturday. He said his brother, a former auditor, had been missing from his home at 1639 West 57th street since March 10, and was despondent because of unemployment.

Hindsight and Foresight

By HOLGAR J. JOHNSON
President, Institute of Life Insurance

THE other night I heard a very learned man, on a radio quiz, correctly answer some brain-twisting questions about 18th century literature.

A few days later this expert admitted to a friend that he had never read his life insurance policies, and, in fact, wasn't quite sure where they were at the moment!

It is nice to be in a business which inspires such confidence. But one's life insurance is so important that at least a few things ought to be more widely known about it.

THAT'S WHY the Institute of Life Insurance, which is an organization composed of 90 leading life insurance companies, has bought this space and made it available to me, at advertising rates, to see if I can tell you some interesting things about life insurance.

My job is not to sell insurance, but to help you to an understanding of it, to explain, to inform and perhaps to encourage.

"Answer questions . . . show people how to get full value for their insurance money . . . explain what the public can expect from a good agent . . . help policyholders get the greatest service out of existing insurance . . . and above all try to catch the spirit of service that permeates the life insurance business . . ." These are my instructions.

You might rightfully ask by what right do I talk about life insurance. It's not because it was my privilege to serve as head of the National Association of Life Underwriters. But because for almost 20 years, day in and day out, I've been coming up against the actual problems of policyholders who, like you, take their life insurance for granted.

You're invited to write me on questions that occur to you, at 60 East 42nd St., New York City. I may not be able to answer them all in this column. But I will reply by mail to individual questions, and try to answer here whenever the reply will be helpful to large numbers of policyholders.

The column will appear every Monday in about this same place. Come around next Monday. We're going to talk about the fellow who sells you your life insurance.

REMOVE CITIZENS FROM WAR AREA, SOCIALISTS URGE

Removal of United States citizens from war zones and keeping this nation's military forces away from provocative situations are demands included in an antiwar plank of the Illinois platform of the Socialist party, drafted yesterday. Opposition to a "super navy" also was recorded. Delegates met in the La Salle hotel.

Perennial planks of the party were renewed: repeal of the sales tax, imposition of a graduated income tax, reapportionment of congressional and senatorial districts in Illinois, amendment of state laws to enable minority parties to get on the ballot more easily, and public ownership of coal mines, oil fields, public utilities, and transportation and communication facilities.

Nominees for state offices include C. H. Mayer of Pekin for United States senator, Arthur G. McDowell of Chicago for governor, Joseph Tonielli of Marsailles for lieutenant governor, and Mordecai Schulman of Chicago for secretary of state.

Senator Schwellenbach Slated for U. S. Judgeship

Seattle, Wash., April 21 (AP).—The Seattle Post-Intelligencer will say tomorrow it has learned definitely that United States Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach will be appointed to the federal District bench in eastern Washington on or about May 1, and will not be a candidate for reëlection. The newspaper likewise will say that Schwellenbach, a Democrat, definitely has decided to accept the judicial post.

Cromwell Says He'll Quit Ottawa Post Within Month

OTTAWA, April 21 (AP).—James H. R. Cromwell said tonight he will resign within the next month as United States minister to Canada, a post to which he was appointed last Jan. 4, to run for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from New Jersey. Cromwell said he "had to resign" in view of the statement of Secretary of State Cordell Hull at Washington, D. C., yesterday that he expected the minister would relinquish his post here to compete in the primary May 21.

SCALISE ARREST RECALLS GRAB OF UNION IN CHICAGO

Elevator Workers Put Under Czar's Rule.

George Scalise, who was arrested yesterday in New York on a charge of extortion, was preparing to travel to Chicago today to meet with members of the executive board of his Building Service Employés' International union.

John Kadel, New York attorney for Scalise, said the meeting was to make plans for the international's convention next month in Atlantic City, N. J.

William McFetridge, president of the Chicago local of the Flat Janitors' union and first vice president of the international of which Scalise is president, said last night he knew of no such meeting of the executive board. "Of course, I may not have been notified," he amended. "A meeting may have been arranged and no notices posted."

Grabs Rule of Union.

Scalise has been a power in New York labor circles for years, but his introduction to Chicagoans came last year when he fought and won a battle for control of local 66 of the Elevator Operators' and Starters' union, which has 3,600 members in this city. The tactics employed in this successful grab were identical with those used in other interunion maneuvers during his climb to power.

The fight for control of local 66 began when attorneys for Scalise filed suit to oust the elevator operators' president, Matthew Taylor, and eleven other officers. The suit claimed that Scalise's international had direct supervision over the local, whose charter it had issued, and demanded that the local be forced to make an accounting of funds to the parent organization. Taylor and his fellow officers refused the demands, asserting that the local was an autonomous body.

Weeks of legal bickering followed. Then, last July 5, Louis Schiavone, a former Capone gunman believed to have been Taylor's bodyguard, was shot to death by unknown assassins. In Schiavone's car was found a copy of a secret audit of the books of local 66.

Members Vote Changes.

Two months later 1,300 members of Taylor's local voted all of the amendments to its charter demanded by Scalise. These amendments, which allegedly broke Taylor's hold over a union which he built, will cause the local's executive board in the future to be elected instead of appointed by the president. Hereafter the president will serve only five years instead of ten, and other officers will be elected yearly.

A point that impressed outsiders was that these amendments apparently were supported wholeheartedly by Taylor himself.

Last January Scalise began a fight to gain control of a San Francisco local of his international. He suspended the local's officers on charges of irregularity and tried to gain control of the local's treasury.

During a prolonged trial before Judge I. M. Colden in the San Francisco Superior court, testimony was presented which showed that Scalise has automatic access to the funds of the international over and above his salary of $20,000 a year. McFetridge, called from Chicago, testified he had no idea what became of the $300,000 a year which the international collected in dues from its 70,000 members.

Tells of Threat by Scalise.

Charles S. Hardy, president of the San Francisco local, testified that Scalise and Thomas Burke of Chicago, a vice president of the international, had approached him in Cincinnati, O. He quoted Scalise as saying: "You rotten ————, you'll do what I tell you or I'll put you out of the way."

On March 1 Judge Golden ruled that a restraining order, prohibiting interference by the international in affairs of the local, would stay in effect. He also held that Scalise and Burke were unfit to sit as members of the executive board to try the San Francisco officers on charges of irregularity.

While the San Francisco case was in progress Scalise made a quick trip to Florida and there appeared before the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor with a request that his international be given jurisdiction over such bowling alley employés as janitors and pin setters. This request, if granted, would bring 25,000 bowling alley workers thruout the country under his dictatorship.

Reports have been current in Chicago that Scalise is attempting to take over McFetridge's flat janitors' union.

Her Heart Sewed Up

MRS. ELOISE EDRALIN.

New York, April 21 [Special].—Mrs. Eloise Edralin, 19 years old, is able to sit up after a delicate operation three weeks ago in which a surgeon took three stitches in her heart after she had accidentally shot herself while picking up a gun. Complete recovery is expected as a result of the unusual operation.

SCALISE SEIZED BY DEWEY AIDS IN EXTORT PLOT

3 Others Arrested with Hotel Union Chief.

Strike Threats Charged.

Scalise was accused by aids of District Attorney Dewey of getting money by threatening strikes, or excessive wage increase demands, or by threatening to unionize nonunion establishments.

Kadel pleaded in vain that Scalise be released in his custody without bail.

"This prosecution is rampant with politics," the lawyer said. "My client has been pilloried by Dewey and the press."

Upon his release from jail Scalise said he had canceled plans for his trip to Chicago. He said he will phone the Chicago office of his union tomorrow and arrange for a meeting of the executive committee, perhaps this week.

Scalise, 43 years old, started his business career as an undertaker, and still owns a funeral parlor opposite his city home in Brooklyn. He recently bought a $60,000 show place estate in Connecticut. It has 27 rooms, liveried servants, and a seven car garage.

Scalise derives his income from union levies on scrubwomen, elevator operators and other building workers. His salary is $25,000 a year and an unlimited expense account which he uses for office rent and other incidentals.

Dewey Tells Long Inquiry.

San Francisco, Cal., April 21 [Special].—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York City, here on a transcontinental tour in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, disclosed today that the arrest of George Scalise, czar of the International Building Service Employés' union, culminated a two year investigation.

"We have been investigating the affairs of Scalise for two years," said Dewey, "and the last bit of testimony we had been seeking became available during the last few days."

Dewey spent a quiet day here after a strenuous week of campaigning across the country. He and Mrs. Dewey and her traveling companion, Mrs. Carl T. Hogan, attended Episcopal church services in the morning. Conferences with various California Republican leaders followed. The party left by train tonight for Denver, Colo., where Dewey will speak Tuesday night.

ARRAIGN MINING PROMOTER TODAY ON FRAUD CHARGE

Harry J. Mallen, western mining promoter who is charged with using the mails to defraud persons who invested in a New Mexico gold mine, will be arraigned today in federal district court, Assistant District Attorney Roy Keehn Jr. said yesterday. Mallen was arrested in Albuquerque, N. M., on March 2.

Keehn said the indictment returned against Mallen also charges him with selling unregistered securities thru the mail.

The prosecutor said that the government intends to show that Mallen misrepresented the use to which the invested money would be put, misrepresented the amount of gold in the mine, and told investors that he had spent large sums for mining equipment when the investment actually was less than $1,000.

You'll be No. 1 in the Hit Parade!

Look at Buick First...you can afford it and you can't know what your 1940 money ought to buy until you've seen this really modern automobile.

The Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $996

YES sir, something pretty special happens when you turn the ignition switch, press down the starter treadle, and drive away for the first time in your very own 1940 Buick.

In that little act, you get a years-long jump on the other fellow. You step out in a car that is not only 1940's biggest news but the pattern for many a season to come.

Style? Just look the others over and see how they mirror the trend Buick began a good twelve months ago!

Size? Just try to find a car as long as Buick, bumper to bumper, for the same money—or one with a frame as husky and rigid.

Comfort? Performance? Appointments?

No one else on the highway has soft, gentle coil springs all around that never need lubrication, with the steady rolling firmness of torque-tube drive.

No one else gives you a gas-thrifty Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine, much less a power plant electro-balanced after assembly to completely new standards of smoothness.

No one else has a Two-Way Directional Signal with automatic cut-off included—or standard equipment so complete that even a lock for the gas tank is included in the price.

And with the whole range of Buick's six dozen 1940 features you'll be No. 1 in the automotive hit parade, leading the way in a car that will still be full of big news many a season hence.

You'll be driving a Buick, staunch and solid in its tested metal, fashioned with Buick craftsmen's skill, a car you can count on to keep its value, lose mighty little through either use or depreciation's steady toll.

And the price? Unbelievable as it sounds, the Buick SPECIAL carries a price lower than some sixes—which spells "buy" in any man's language. Why not learn more right now from the nearest Buick dealer?

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Due in Court with Kretske; May Hear Sentence.

D. D. Glasser [top] and N. I. Kretske.

Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, former assistant United States attorneys who were convicted on March 8 of conspiracy in connection with the operation of an alleged case fixing ring in the federal court, will appear before Judge Patrick T. Stone today seeking a new trial.

If their motion for another trial is denied, Judge Stone is expected to pass sentence immediately. They and three co-defendants who were convicted with them face a possible maximum punishment of two years in the penitentiary and a $10,000 fine.

The other defendants are Attorney Alfred Roth, Anthony Horton, colored, a professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, an alleged alcohol peddler. Roth was charged with having been the defense lawyer in the fixed cases, and Horton and Kaplan were described as the original contact men for the ring and the bribe collectors.

The alleged conspiracy involved the fixing of bootlegging cases. Numerout bootleggers testifying for the government told of paying bribes. Each defendant denied the accusations.

DECIDE TODAY ON CONDEMNED KILLER'S SANITY

The sanity of Victor Nukowski, 24 years old, one of three men awaiting electrocution for a holdup murder, is to be determined today by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge John F. Bolton. Dr. Alexander S. Herschfield, a psychiatrist acting on behalf of the state, said yesterday that he has examined Nukowski three times and is ready to report to the court.

Nukowski, Henry Drewek, 22, and Frank Michalowski, 25, were to have died April 3 in the electric chair in the County jail for the murder of Viggo Peterson, 64, of 2650 Cortland street, who was slain last Oct. 13 during a robbery of a tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue. The three won stays, however, and the application of Michalowski and Drewek for clemency are being considered by the state board of pardons and paroles.

G. O. P. TO OPEN CAMPAIGN FUND DRIVE ON MAY 1

New York, April 21 [Special].—Announcement that the United Republican finance committee would begin its drive for funds for the presidential campaign on May 1 was made today by Chairman F. Trubee Davison and John M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"It is not enough that our indebtedness of $660,000 has been paid and that we start the campaign with a clean slate," Hamilton said. "We must have funds now in advance of the convention so there will be no slackening of our hard hitting drive to elect a Republican President."

Davison said he expected the drive would result in 100,000 individual contributions.

SMOKE FRIGHTENS PATIENTS.

Smoke from an incinerator shaft fire penetrated thru the fifth and sixth floors of the Columbus hospital, 2548 Lake View avenue yesterday, causing a momentary fright among a few patients. There was no property damage.

DEFENDS PAROLE SYSTEM IN FIGHT AGAINST CRIME

Development of the probation system as a money saving and effective weapon in the war on crime was advocated last night by James V. Bennett, director of the federal bureau of prisons. He addressed 600 prison administrators and parole authorities at the opening session of the Central States Probation and Parole association conference in the Hotel Sherman.

"Probation is an absolute essential to any well rounded program for the treatment of delinquency," Bennett said. "What is needed, however, is an aroused public demand for better administrated probation systems; for better standards of selecting probationers, and for probation officers selected on a merit basis and free from political domination.

"It is a strange paradox that legislative bodies look with complacence on the expenditure of $400 a year to keep a man in prison, but frown on spending $50 to $60 a year to rehabilitate him in the community where he may continue to support his family."

HELD AS SLAYER OF RICH WOMAN ON INDIANA FARM

Lafayette, Ind., April 21 [Special].—Sheriff F. E. Staley of Tippecanoe county announced tonight that Clair Mitchell, 25 years old, a farm hand, had confessed killing Miss Georgia Miller, 62, in her home 19 miles southwest of here on March 8, and then setting fire to the house to conceal his crime.

Until the announcement of Mitchell's arrest and alleged confession, it was generally believed that Miss Miller, a wealthy retired school teacher, had accidentally perished in the fire.

Romance and a need for money were the motives behind Mitchell's act, said Sheriff Staley and State Police Detective Harvey L. Hire. Mitchell, they said, had planned to marry Mrs. Isabell Ollar, 19, and needed funds to furnish a home. On March 6 Mitchell, the sheriff said, sold 136 bushels of wheat from Miss Miller's farm and kept the money—$135. Mitchell was seized last night at Mrs. Ollar's home at Veersburg. She is being held as a material witness.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE FACTS.

Mr. Roosevelt's address from Warm Springs to the Young Democratic clubs established something of a record, even for him. Over the last seven or eight years, the public has learned to discount heavily not only his promises but his statements of fact. On Saturday, his habit of misstatement was running at its strongest.

The Republicans, he said, are seeking to frighten the country by telling people the present administration is trying to get the United States into the war. His answer to the charge was the statement that "you know better than that," some generalities about a better world, and some references to sticky flypaper.

Naturally Mr. Roosevelt did not review the record of his warlike speeches and acts. They establish the charges against him. What other meaning than involvement in the war is to be read in his acts and utterances beginning with the speech he made here at the dedication of the Outer bridge, the speech in which he announced his intention to "quarantine" certain nations?

In Mr. Roosevelt's formative years as a politician he served as assistant secretary of the navy under President Wilson who "kept us out of war." Mr. Wilson sent Col. House to Europe and permitted him to commit this country to war in a secret conversation with the British foreign secretary. A memorandum was made of the conversation; Mr. Wilson accepted it with the single—and, as event proved, unimportant—addition of the word "probably." Mr. Roosevelt sent Mr. Welles on a similar tour of the capitals. Why?

Mr. Wilson in 1914 cautioned the nation to preserve neutrality in thought and deed. Mr. Roosevelt started in 1939 by declaring he could not be neutral in thought. Neither could he be neutral in deed, as he soon showed. He demanded the repeal of the arms embargo so that he might make this country an arsenal for the side he favored. What will he do if this help proves insufficient? Is it likely that he will or can stop there, having announced that the world's hopes rest with the side he favors?

He delayed the sailing of the Bremen for no reason which any one has been able to discover except a desire that it be captured at sea. He ordered the army to change its rules to permit the sale of new model airplanes to the French and British, and only a fatal accident brought this unneutral act to public attention. He countenanced reports that German submarines were operating off the Florida coast for no better purpose, so far as any one knows, than to frighten the American people. His military preparations foreshadow another expeditionary force.

Undoubtedly with Mr. Roosevelt's sanction the navy department has been encouraged to demand the fortification of the island of Guam off the Japanese coast, a highly provocative act. Only the other day his state department declared the intention of this country to safeguard the Dutch East Indies if Holland should be attacked and unable to protect them, a declaration which the Netherlands government has denounced as meddlesome, embarrassing, and unsolicited, but it gives Mr. Roosevelt another opportunity to get into war.

The documents from the Polish archives have been denounced as forgeries but the record of Mr. Bullitt's speeches as ambassador to France, of Mr. Kennedy's action in London, of the withdrawal of our ambassador from Germany, of the hasty departure of Mr. Bullitt from this country when an investigation was imminent, of Mr. Doris Duke Cromwell's speech, as our diplomatic representative in Canada prove that the attitude disclosed in the documents, whether they are forgeries or not, is a fair representation of Mr. Roosevelt's policy. The documents show Mr. Roosevelt determined to repeal the arms embargo and he did it. They show him determined to bring victory to the side he favors and all that has happened subsequently is confirmatory of the purpose.

All of this evidence, and much more, of a design to involve this country in war, Mr. Roosevelt sought to bury with a phrase. In somewhat the same way he sought to divert attention from the scandals of his administration. "Virtually every serious government scandal since the civil war has occurred under Republican leadership," he said. Somebody ought to introduce Mr. Roosevelt to his son, Jimmy. Somebody ought to let the White House know that Mr. Roosevelt's political lieutenant in New York, a Mr. Hines, is in the penitentiary for grafting. The President ought to be told how Senator Barkley, his handpicked leader in the upper house, won his last election; about Senator Slattery's strong box; about the second Louisiana purchase; about Secretary Wallace's interest in the hybrid corn business; about TVA, Grand Coulee, and Passamaquoddy just as a starter.

Just as under Republican administrations there never were expenditures and deficits on the present scale, so there never have been scandalous abuse of power and misappropriation of money on the present scale. To complete the record Mr. Roosevelt should have added that since the civil war no depression has lasted as long as the Roosevelt depression. And in addition, he should have observed that since the civil war only one President—so far—has involved us in a European war and he, too, was a Democrat.

WHAT WILL WELL DRESSED INFANTRYMEN CARRY?

The purchase by the French of many thousand Thompson machine guns raises anew the question of arms for the troops still called infantry.

The discovery of smokeless powder 40 odd years ago found the military as unprepared to deal with its properties as they were to use rifled cannon 40 years before that.

Smokeless powder deprived soldiers of the protection and embarrassment of smoke, while the power of the new propellent increased ranges to fantastic distances.

The military mind met the novelty by equipping the rifle with sights to shoot much farther than the eye could see, and neutralized the advantage by introducing a bullet as nearly harmless as a projectile can be made.

Men equipped with a weapon designed to shoot almost two miles were trained in mass bayonet attacks altho these had been proven impractical by Wellington in the days of the flintlock.

When the Boers, all expert marksmen, mowed down the massed British bayonet bearers at long ranges in the clear air of South Africa, it confirmed the advocates of long range rifle shooting without changing the doctrine of the bayonetteers.

To cheer these devoted victims of obsolete doctrines, military professors proclaimed that infantry was the "queen of the battlefield," but none of them became consorts of the battle's queen.

In the last war, with its foggy weather, its intricate and wooded terrain, the rifle carrier, confronted with the proper use of rifled artillery and the introduction of the machine guns, was reduced to a status of little more than target. Other weapons inflicted the casualties; the infantry suffered them.

The obtuseness of the theory of long range, single shot rifles and bayonet attacks was the more extraordinary when it is considered that automatic rifles had been successfully used for a dozen years before the outbreak of the war, at those ranges at which a skilled man could shoot effectively and by the best of all rifle shots—the big game hunters.

Now, 20 years after the war, when men who had been in the fighting have risen to positions of power, the bayonet men's doctrine has been scrapped.

In Germany, artillery is incorporated in the so-called infantry regiments. The smallest weapon for offense or defense is a light machine gun operated by three men and supported by five ammunition carriers, who are also replacements, carrying, for lack of something better, the old-fashioned rifle.

In our own service, an automatic rifle having finally been devised by the ordnance department the old rifle is discarded about 30 years after its obsolescence has been obvious and a semiautomatic weapon, shooting the safety bullet, has been introduced.

The doctrine of firing into the blue has been abandoned and that of shooting at targets visible to the naked eye substituted.

Its fire is considered too slow for contact fighting, so a bayonet is provided which weighs as much as 45 rounds of ammunition.

It may well be that five men, armed with these weapons, will prove more effective at point blank range than an equal number operating a machine gun.

The French seem to think that the man with the gun must close to 100 yards to be effective, at which distance the tommy gun, with its continuous fire and its .45 caliber, is annihilating.

Which doctrine is correct can only be told by experience.

At the end of the last war rifle carriers were given .45 caliber automatic pistols to defend themselves with. Perhaps the modern rifle bearer will be given a tommy gun on the side.

THE ORCHESTRA.

The progress which has already been made in extinguishing the accumulated deficit of the Chicago Symphony orchestra is gratifying; at last reports something like two-thirds of the $127,000 needed had been pledged. The money is required to retain for the city one of its most precious possessions—an institution which of itself would go far to establish Chicago's place among the world's great cities as a center of civilization.

Institutions tend to become stodgy as they grow older, but the Chicago Symphony orchestra is an exception to the rule, thanks largely to Dr. Stock's catholic taste. The season which has just come to a close has been more brilliant than any within recent memory. The orchestra has played with better spirit and its programs have been livelier. The preliminary announcements of next year's concerts in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the orchestra's establishment are a promise of even better things to come. It would be a most serious reflection upon the intelligence and taste of the people of Chicago if the orchestra were to be handicapped by financial difficulties at such a moment.

Europe today is concentrating its wealth and energy upon destruction and the world becomes more dependent every day upon America for the preservation of learning and the arts. This community bears the responsibility for one of the half dozen great orchestras of the world. It took 50 years to build it. If it is not freed of the handicap of debt its players may scatter and its tradition will be lost, perhaps beyond recovery.

A BOTTLE OF F. D. R.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

Eminently proper, of course, is the decision of Guy H. Herdman, assistant attorney general of Kentucky, who has advised the chief corporation clerk of the department of state of the land of the bourbons that it would be "unwise" to issue a trademark for a brand of whisky to be known as "F. D. R." His reason [that the public might assume that the President was in some way connected with the manufacture of the whisky, or had indorsed it] is probably ridiculous, but the whole project is in questionable taste anyhow. A statesman's name should be perpetuated as a brand of fine cigar, not on a bottle of whisky. And yet, just for the sake of speculation, if one were going to put up a bottle of F. D. R. whisky, what would be in the concoction? It would naturally fall into that general category of beverages known as "squirrel whisky." It would be advertised as "having a pleasant, altho deceptive, smoothness." It would induce hangovers such as were never seen in all the history of drinking. Part moonshine, part horse liniment, part dope, part salve—a bittersweet elixir guaranteed to turn night into day, and vice versa.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

LETTER TO A BIOGRAPHER.

Dear Elmer Ellis: So you've settled down at the Huntington library to write the biography of Finley Peter Dunne, alias "Mr. Dooley." But you will need the Chicago atmosphere in that book, and your memories of "Dooley's" old stamping ground in Newspaper Row may grow dim out there in the California sunshine.

So I think I'll send you a bit of Chicagoana that carries the spirit of the town that "Dooley" knew. It is a brochure published by friends of Frank Morris, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of his book shop, which was on Madison street near Wells [5th avenue] when Pete Dunne walked the adjacent cobblestones.

This booklet was printed in 1912, and Dunne departed for the fleshpots of New York in 1900; but its background represents his period, and the men who contributed to it were his colleagues and companions. Ink stained wretches to the number of 27 wrote pieces in praise of Frank Morris, the bookseller, and if Dunne had been in town, he would have been the 28th.

George Ade describes Morris' shop where Dunne did plenty of book browsing, thus:

"Frank's place was incredibly packed from floor to ceiling with books old enough to command respect and with private histories enhancing their value. And so there was embanked, all about the premises, like a still incense, the gently musty, dusty, old papery aroma of well seasoned books."

The other contributors were:

Prose—Willis J. Abbott, George F. Butler, Karl Edwin Harriman, George Barr McCutcheon, Wilbur D. Nesbit, Will Payne, Frank Putnam, Charles Edward Russell, Otis Skinner, C. W. Taylor, James Whitcomb Riley, William Allen White, Francis Wilson, Laurence C. Woodworth [editor].

Verse—Wallace Bruce Amsbary, Emma Carleton, Eugene Field, George Horton, Emerson Hough, S. E. Kiser, Earl Marble, Frank Putnam, Wallace Rice, Bert Leston Taylor, C. W. Taylor, J. S. Zimmerman.

There are ghosts in this book, Elmer, that will whisper to you as you write. When they become mute, send it back to me.

FLEETING BEAUTY.

Glory be to God for fragile things:
For sheer star-pointed crystal snow designs,
For dawn's blue opalescence, shining wings,
Mist gossamer, rain sweetened breath of pines,
Old silver moonpaths trailed on tranquil streams,
A drifting cloud's inconstant citadel,
For petals shattered wantonly as dreams,
And music's momentary golden spell.

All fleeting beauty catches at our hearts
More sharply for its very brevity.
A transitory loveliness imparts
Charm's final, most endearing witchery.
And life itself grows poignantly sublime,
When we have sensed the swallow flight of time.

A Philosopher Views Contributors.

A perplexed public probably wonders what influenced 15,521 souls to spend time, energy, and postage in writing the Line last year; in short, "Why is a contributor?" Not profit, obviously; not vanity, most hide behind pseudonyms; not the taste of printer's ink, that is soon satisfied.

Perhaps it was a half-conscious desire to divert and beguile others, in these days of foreboding, by sharing a quip, a verse, or a jest. Commendation and "fan mail" are rare, but mean little to contributors; like birds in a lonely wood, they sing because they must. Oddly enough, those I've known have been folk of importance that duty's discipline left little time for writing.

A youth once boasted to Robert Burns that he had kept abreast of his plow all day. "Aye, lad," said Burns, "but I've written a little poem, too!"

Brilliant Career of a Crayfish.

In New York restaurants that really know their crustaceans, such as the Claremont and Billy the Oysterman's, there always appears on the menus at this season of the year the line:

Wisconsin crayfish.....$2.25

On the piers at Oak street beach and the mouth of the Chicago river, they are used as bait for jumbo perch.

FOOTBALL IN SPRING.

Spring practice consists
Of muddy young men,
Entirely surrounded
By coaches, who then
At once start a roaring
Like that of the surf;
Tho players who listen
Are ground in the turf;
For, remembering details,
At least ten, while blocking,
Is fatal against
A big lug, just socking.

To reporters, the coach
Now sings his theme song:
"They are green, very green,
But coming along."
As a matter of fact
The coach really knows
If he gets some big guys
Who are up on their toes,
Tough birds who will charge,
Not try to remember
Too much about form—
O. K. come September.

A Theater Every One Has Forgotten.

You say that the La Salle theater began its career as the New Orpheon [April 11], but it's surprising how few Chicagoans remember anything about the old Orpheon. I recall it as on Washington street adjacent to the Chicago Opera house [now the Conway building site], and believe that Henry Lee staged "Cyrano de Bergerac" there in opposition to Richard Mansfield's "Cyrano" at the Grand Opera house around the corner.

Ned Alvord.

Do you want another pair of more or less famous twins? Look up the Rev. Morrell twins, evangelists, who flourished on the west side of Chicago, about the turn of the century. Colorful. Red hair and red, red whiskers.

SICK HEADACHE A COUSIN TO HAY FEVER.

CAN it be that sick headache [migraine] is related to the type of ailment which arises because of sensitivity to an irritant—allergy? The answer is—yes, at least in some instances. It is now felt that a fair proportion of all the cases may be ascribed to this cause. Omitting some special food may bring relief—not always, to be sure, but often enough to suggest that every article in the diet should be investigated in the hope of finding the culprit.

The history was reported recently of a migraine sufferer whose father and mother, one brother, and two sisters were all allergic. With this individual, the slightest fraction of wheat would provoke an attack. As soon as all such products were banished and the patient immunized against this edible, the symptoms vanished completely.

But there are probably other types of headache—quite apart from migraine—which may be due to foods or to substances that are inhaled or touched.

The characteristic pain is experienced on one side of the head, altho some general discomfort may be felt in every portion of the cranium. While such bouts will not come daily, perhaps not even each week, nevertheless the manifestation is so severe—when it appears—that the alimentary tract is affected.

Sometimes the episodes are traceable to dietary indiscretions, late hours with too much to eat [some of which is indigestible], or to overfatigue. What better explanation for the "starter" can be advanced than a rebellion to certain foods? The periodical character of true migraine is accounted for as an explosion that occurs when the digestive canal is overwhelmed. During the seizure the victim is prostrated but, as a rule, with plenty of fluids, no solids, and bed rest for 24 hours recovery will ensue.

A woman of 33 had complained of distressing headaches for many years. At no season was she completely free from a possible paroxysm, altho on several occasions when away from home the trouble would fail to appear. She was given a long series of skin tests for allergy and—on a controled diet—behaved about the same as she did on her vacations. In fact, she was perfectly well so long as she adhered to her curtailed meals. After a time, however, she became tired of this restricted régime and ate what she chose. Within a few days a typical siege came on.

It was found that her menus were too limited for satisfaction and she was instructed to keep a food diary in an effort to ascertain the particular elements responsible. In this way she determined that lettuce [of which she consumed large quantities], chocolate, and wheat were the chief offenders, altho a score or more were suspected. On omitting lettuce alone the attacks were reduced in frequency and intensity. Depriving herself—in addition—of all wheat preparations and chocolate brought practical freedom.

While we recognize that much head pain may be ascribed to infection within the air passages and the sinuses, the circulation, the eyes, or even the kidneys, we must not forget that symptoms may arise because of the absorption of some material that acts as a virulent poison. It disturbs not only the stomach and the intestines, but the nervous system as well. After all, allergy is not a fad. It is a very real reaction which some patients manifest in a personal way. While the response does not threaten life, it may destroy both zest and efficiency.

[More about migraine in tomorrow's article.]

COLOR-BLIND.

I. R. writes: A recent test showed that I am color-blind. Is there any way to remedy this condition?

REPLY.

Unfortunately, no. If everything looks gray you will have to determine color by means of its intensity.

FRECKLES AND HEALTH.

C. V. writes: Is it true that those who have freckles are the healthiest?

REPLY.

Deposits of pigment in the skin indicate usually a goodly amount of outdoor activity—which is conducive to health. You never see a freckled person in a night club.

WEAK HEART MUSCLE.

T. E. writes: What is meant by "a weak heart muscle?"

REPLY.

The heart is a powerful muscular structure. However, its fibers are subject to degenerative changes in which a number may be destroyed.

INFLAMED GUMS.

G. T. writes: What causes inflamed gums?

REPLY.

Certain conditions, such as anemia, infections within the mouth or about the teeth, dietary deficiencies, lack of vitamin C, etc.

SHOES.

F. T. writes: Which is better—a long and narrow or a short and broad foot?

REPLY.

X-RAYS IN ARTHRITIS.

T. F. writes: Are X-ray treatments of any value in arthritis?

REPLY.

Little, if any.

VETERANS OF FUTURE WARS.

Niles Center, Ill., April 16.—A few years ago some exceptionally brilliant young men started a campaign to pay a bonus to the "Veterans of Future Wars." I think it would be a very fine thing to get a list of the members of this organization and include the entire membership in the first draft should it ever become necessary to conscript men for the army. Should occasion ever arise that these gallant youths, who so ridiculed the soldiers that served in the first world war, spend one night in the trenches I think they would change their concept of patriotic duty.

RALPH ROBB.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

Chicago, April 16.—Since 1910 the state of Illinois has not been apportioned in accordance with article IV., paragraph 6 of the constitution of Illinois. This is of advantage to the people of southern Illinois who have been and are receiving public funds we of Chicago are entitled to. We Chicagoans do not receive enough funds to properly equip our city.

If our politicians do not demand the state's reapportionment as they should, we the people should demand a referendum.

MILDRED ZEBOLEN.

HONKING.

Chicago, April 13.—I'm writing this in behalf of the hundreds of bedridden invalids thruout our city to the car drivers who insist on honking automobile horns.

Suppose you wait a minute for the other cars to go before you get excited. Suppose you go ring your friend's doorbell when you want his attention instead of honking your horn. Suppose you bear in mind the many who must listen to all this needless noise night and day. Perhaps were you to change places with some of your victims it would teach you a well needed lesson.

A VICTIM.

DAVID AND GOLIATH.

Chicago, April 17.—Shades of Baron Munchausen! ! !

One pygmy mine layer of the Norwegian fleet sinks two German cruisers and routs the third. When newspapers publish a story like this, I call it spreading it on a little thick. Eh, wot?

AGAINST WAR.

Chicago, April 16.—Each passing day is bringing us closer and closer to the horrible whirlpool of war. The people as a whole seem to be very apathetic to this all. Therein lies the great danger. Let us protest, protest, and protest. Tomorrow it may be too late!

DAILY READER.

THE SPIRIT OF '78.

Chicago, April 15. — Your editorial, "The Spirit of '78," in this morning's issue scarcely lives up to your ideals for justice and fair play as well as facts. In expressing his personal opinion, Mr. Bache was exercising his right as an American citizen.

Mr. Bache has frequently expressed himself as unneutral, wherein he is undoubtedly in accord with the vast majority of the citizens of this country. So far as we know he has not advocated our active entry into the world conflict, but he has again and again expressed the opinion that we will eventually have to take an active part openly, just as we are at present doing secretly.

Mr. Bache is far from being a selfish citizen with no thought but his own gain. His benefactions within recent years have surpassed 30 millions of dollars. His nephew was killed in action in France during the world war. His granddaughter is married to Gen. Pershing's son. He has vast financial interests in many of our foremost corporations. He is known among his business associates as a broad-minded, unselfish and public spirited man. He is far from the senility your editorial writer implies in his editorial heading.

The writer is in no way related to Mr. J. S. Bache, unfortunately, but would consider it both a pride and a privilege to be able to claim kinship.

JOSEPH LLOYD BACHE.

WHAT'S THIS ABOUT?

Chicago, April 4.—Why are teachers expected to contribute or buy tickets for any and every charity?

And why, if unable or unwilling, are they threatened with a lowered efficiency rating?

This rating is supposedly given on one's ability to teach pupils, not ability to buy tickets.

LESSON FROM NORWAY.

Chicago, April 16.—It is high time that our communists, Nazis, and their sympathizers were jailed. They are all potential traitors and will deliver us into the hands of our enemies if given the chance. There isn't a real American in the whole lot of them. Let the fate of Norway be a lesson to us.

MAJ. ANDRE'S CAPTORS.

Benton, Ill., April 15.—I read with great interest your write-up of the treason of Benedict Arnold and the arrest of Maj. Andre. I have been, and am, interested in the works of Lawrence, and for that reason put the picture of Mrs. Arnold in my files among other works of the same artist.

I think the historians, the poets, and patriotic story writers have greatly neglected the three irregulars who arrested Maj. Andre and held him in the face of his clever deception and offered bribe. They must have been hungry at the time and no doubt their loved ones at home were in dire need. But after he had passed the regular outposts they had grit enough to arrest him and honesty enough to hold him in the face of great temptation and thereby turned the course of history, if one act from one man or set of men ever did that.

No doubt they were obscure, poor, and needy, but they should not remain unknown, unnamed or forgotten. Perhaps even their own graves are not marked.

T. I. GALLOWAY.

ANOTHER FOR DEWEY.

Oregon, Ill., April 15.—I read Arthur Sears Henning's article this morning. If Republicans can call Dewey the glamor boy, what will the Democrats say?

We have had the big politicians select our Presidents for a long time, but the time has come when the electorate has something to say. We all admire Arthur Vandenberg, and wish he might be elected, but we need a glamor man to meet the glamor Franklin. Why cannot Republicans try out Dewey?

I travel all over the country, get into homes of all shades of opinion, and to beat that communistic outfit we will have to be as showy as they are. We can win with Dewey.

M. J. BALABAUGH.

Chicago, April 15.—I have just written a letter to Dr. Irving S. CREDIT PURCHASE.

Chicago, April 19 [Legal Friend of the People].—In the month of August, 1937, my husband purchased a watch from a credit jewelry house.

1. At the time of the purchase my husband was a minor. The amount set for the watch was $50. This particular watch sells for $25. On buying said watch a wage assignment note was signed by my husband and a friend of his, also a minor at that time.

2. After payments of two months time my husband lost his job and was unable to make payments. On regaining part employment he made payments. After a while this stopped because of home necessities. While working this assignment was called to attention of my employer and $1 per week taken out of my wages and given to the jewelry house. I offered to return watch but was laughed at. On losing this job payments were stopped. Now on regaining employment I have had a letter from this jewelry house saying that they will have a man follow me from my home to learn place of present employment and I will be forced to pay this man's wages. I have already paid $30 payments on said watch.

3. Is my husband liable for contract made while a minor?

4. If not advise how I should handle the matter.

5. Can they [the jewelry house] attach expense of agent to original balance?

6. Should I take my baby's food money and pay this outrageous price? L. J.

1. You imply that he has since come of age. His rights would depend on whether his subsequent conduct has amounted to a ratification such as to waive the minority defense.

2. If he made payments after coming of age, then presumably it is too late to raise the defense.

3. Probably, yes. See preceding answers.

4. If you returned the watch, then in our opinion the remaining contract liability would not be a family expense and hence you would not be liable altho your husband would be liable.

5. Not unless so agreed.

6. The garnishment exemption to the head of a family is $20 per week. If you are the only wage earner, it might be possible that you would be held to be the head of the family.

Few are the New Ones

RARELY does the guest see new faces, hear new voices, among the servitors at The Homestead.

For it is a policy of management to have as nearly as possible the same personnel, year after year, to serve you.

That is one of the several reasons why you always have the impression—or the conviction—of being better-served at The Homestead than elsewhere. And it's as true of service in your room, or in the Great Hall, or on the lawns, as in the Dining Room.

U.S. AGENTS BLOW FOAM FROM BEER IN HOOSIER PROBE

Pry Into $500,000 Set as Yearly Shakedown.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20.—In Indiana's slush fund scandal, indications are that the most engrossing part of the investigation by federal treasury agents involves shakedowns applied to recipients of business favors from the state, more than the collection of 2 per cent from state pay rollers.

When the 2 per cent club was organized early in the régime of Paul V. McNutt as governor it was argued a 2 per cent levy would be true Jeffersonian democracy as contrasted with practices of some former administrations in putting the squeeze on corporations for campaign funds.

A monthly kick-in of 2 per cent of the pay envelope, it was argued, would be less of a strain on the pay rollers than old methods of putting on the touch a month or two before an election for anywhere from 25 to 40 per cent of a month's salary. Two per cent a month, it was explained, is 24 per cent a year. McNutt defended the 2 per cent idea.

Club Gets New Name.

The 2 per cent club, christened with a new name, Hoosier Democratic club, was taken from under the corrupt practices act and legalized by act of the legislature.

It makes no public financial report or accounting. The act permitted contributions to the club. For years there were political charges in campaigns that donations came from business interests outside the pay rollers.

Indiana's legalized beer racket was one of these. Two years ago it was estimated that machine politics was putting on a shake estimated at $500,000 a year and that beer shipped into Indiana from outside the state was the target. At its last session, the legislature amended the liquor act and knocked out what had been a series of district monopolies on beer, thus reducing the pressure. But even with the squeeze thus lessened, statehouse insiders say 80 per cent of the breweries doing business in Indiana will continue to contribute.

$500,000 a Year Shakedown.

Of course, in the estimate of $500,000 a year beer shakedown of two years ago, the 2 Per Cent club was only one of the many beneficiaries. City and county machines put on the squeeze at election time and at other times for their own funds. Politicians were cut into corporations enjoying a beer import monopoly. Individual candidates went out and maced the beer spigots. The racket was spread over the state, and only part of the gravy landed in the war chest of the state machine. How much never has been made public.

However, one of an unnamed trio from which the treasury seeks $139,000 in income taxes and penalties is alleged to have paid into the slush fund $53,000 collected from wholesale liquor dealers receiving special favors from the state administration in its enforcement of the liquor law. All three attacked in the treasury information are former officers of the 2 Per Cent club.

Treasury agents went about quietly looking for contributors. For months there was much subsurface agitation. Some persons who had kicked in, consulted their lawyers when the agents got on their trail. They asked what they ought to tell them. They were advised to tell the truth, unless they wanted to commit perjury and run afoul of the government. So they opened their books to the agents, and some of them added oral details of their contributions.

In connection with the McNutt presidential campaign, one matter should be mentioned. The McNutt managers declare that no part of the 2 per cent fund was used for McNutt's campaigning.

Claim 60,000 Donors.

Bowman Elder, reputed millionaire and former treasurer of the 2 per cent club—receiver for the interurban lines, a former national treasurer of the American Legion, an old all-American footballer of 300 pounds weight—denies that 1 cent of the 2 per cent fund went to any individual candidacy—he says it all went for party campaigns.

Elder says the McNutt campaign is financed by contributions from the McNutt for President movement, which now has more than 60,000 members who have contributed sums ranging from a quarter up to $1,000. He says several states are represented in this army of voluntary contributors, but most of them are Hoosiers. The McNutt boosters boast this is a demonstration of McNutt's standing.

The government is asking Elder if he does not owe $233,000 in income taxes and penalties.

Twelve Import Districts.

As to the political beer racket, the old law set up twelve import districts—ports of entry—and two or three others were added later, for the importation of beer. The importer at the ports of entry bought beer outside the state and sold it to retailers for all the traffic would bear. The importer in most districts took the form of a corporation. Holders of the import privilege had a virtual monopoly. Politicians were taken care of by being given a slice of the monopoly.

This was the law amended last session. The old importers were abolished. With them went the monopoly on wholesale beer. No limit was placed on the number of wholesalers.

The wholesalers are said to be happy. Some of the machine politicians say beer will continue to kick in for campaign funds—it's got the habit—and besides, political machines, local and otherwise, sometimes seem able to exert unfavorable pressure on saloonists who do not cough up.

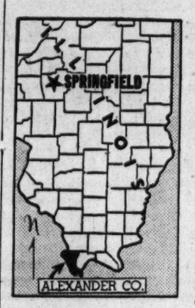
SEEK ALEXANDER COUNTY'S PROOF OF RELIEF CLAIM

Neil H. Jacoby, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said yesterday that the county commissioners of Alexander county have been called to appear Thursday before the IERC to prove their claim for state relief funds for May. The county was not granted state funds during April.



Arrow points to Alexander county.

Jacoby said the county's administrator resigned last January and a citizens' advisory committee was organized to aid in selecting an administrator acceptable to the county board and to the IERC. Jacoby said the county board, however, refused to appoint any of the men selected by the advisory committee.

FALLS DEAD IN FRONT OF HOME.

DISCLOSE $1,000 ANNUAL INCOME OF TWO ON RELIEF

Forced to Repay 7 Years' Aid Funds.

The story of a middle aged couple who got on the relief rolls and stayed there for seven years, altho they had cash, property, and securities which returned them nearly $1,000 a year, was told yesterday by relief officials.

R. M. Hilliard, attorney for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said the IERC received an anonymous letter last month suggesting that Otto and Mary Schneider of 144 West 144th place be investigated.

Investigators found that Schneider had $230 in an account at the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, 815 West 63d street, and a safety deposit vault which, it was charged, contained thousands of dollars worth of securities. Attachment proceedings naming the couple as defendants and the bank as garnishee were begun early in April.

Gets Stocks out of Vault.

Schneider then approached the IERC and offered to make restitution, Hilliard said. From March, 1933, to March, 1940, records showed, Schneider and his wife received $1,729 from the IERC and the Chicago Relief administration.

A relief commission representative accompanied Schneider to the bank, where Schneider took 15 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph company common stock from the safety deposit vault. This stock is quoted currently at more than $170 a share. Hilliard said Schneider sold the stock and made out checks to the IERC and the CRA for relief money which had been obtained fraudulently, plus court costs.

Hilliard said no inventory was made of the contents of the vault, but that it contained additional securities. The relief commission did not prosecute the case further, and the attachment proceedings were dismissed at a hearing before Municipal Judge Charles Dougherty on April 12.

Decide Not to Press Case.

"Schneider has been ill," Hilliard said. "Since we had regained the relief money, we saw no need to take further action."

Altho the exact value of Schneider's assets was not learned, an examination of the bank account disclosed deposits totaling $971 in the last year. Hilliard said the couple informed him the money was dividends from their stocks, indicating sizable holdings of securities.

Schneider is 51 years old and Mrs. Schneider is 46. Schneider was understood to have amassed his savings by investments from his salary from a sporting goods company.

Chicago's young fishermen yesterday discovered that smelt were lurking incautiously close to shore at 51st street and the lake. Washtubs and scrubpails were filled quickly after the fish had permitted themselves to be scooped up in nets.

WALTER KOHLER, EX-GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN, DIES

Manufacturer's Body Is Found by Widow.

Walter J. Kohler.

Kohler, Wis., April 21 [Special].—Walter Jodok Kohler, 65 years old, Republican governor of Wisconsin in 1929-'30 and a nationally known manufacturer, died unexpectedly today in his home, Riverbend. He apparently had been in good health.

Mrs. Kohler found his body alongside the bed in his bedroom. It was believed he died just after he arose this morning. Dr. Wesley Van Zanten, Sheboygan county coroner, said death was due to coronary embolism, a blood clot of the heart.

Mr. Kohler, chairman of the board of the Kohler company, manufacturer of plumbing supplies, was born March 3, 1875, in Sheboygan, where he attended the public schools. When he was 15 years old he went to work in the enameling department of the Kohler company, founded in 1873 by his father.

Elected Delegate in '28.

When his father died in 1900 the three Kohler brothers carried on the business. Four months after they took charge the plant burned to the ground, but a year later construction had begun on a new factory. Mr. Kohler became president of the company in 1905, and served in that capacity until 1937, when he became chairman of the board.

Mr. Kohler's political career began in 1928 when he was elected delegate to the Republican national convention. The same year he was drafted to run for governor and was elected.

In the primary he defeated Congressman John D. Beck, put forward by the La Follette faction, and later was acquitted of a charge, brought by the opposition, that he had violated the corrupt practices act by spending too much for campaign expenses. In the election he defeated Albert G. Schmedeman, the Democratic candidate. He left $20,000,000 in the state treasury when his term in office ended.

Defeated for Reelection.

Mr. Kohler sought reelection in 1930, but was defeated in the primary by Philip F. La Follette, who later became governor. Mr. Kohler entered the race again in 1932. He defeated La Follette in the primary, but lost to Schmedeman, Democratic nominee.

Just as he had backed Hoover in 1928, altho told that it might hurt his own campaign and keep Wisconsin dry, Mr. Kohler, in 1936, urged the election of Alfred M. Landon. He was a severe critic of the New Deal, and in frequent speeches warned against the danger of high taxes and government control of business.

Mr. Kohler was an ardent aviation enthusiast and made many campaign trips by air in his own plane.

Regent of University.

In addition to other industrial and business positions, Mr. Kohler was for six years a regent of the University of Wisconsin and was a trustee of Lawrence college at Appleton. He also was president of the Sheboygan Home for the Friendless. He was vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers and a director of other industrial groups. He was a member of the Union League clubs of Chicago and New York and the Milwaukee club.

Mr. Kohler was given an honorary master's degree by the University of Wisconsin, and in 1934 was awarded the national fellowship of the Society of Arts and Sciences in connection with building Kohler as a model industrial town.

Survived by Widow.

Mr. Kohler is survived by his widow, the former Charlotte Schroeder, and four sons, John Michael, Walter J. Jr., Carl J., and Robert E. Kohler. Also surviving are a brother, Herbert Vollrath Kohler, president of the company; three sisters, the Misses Marie, Evangeline, and Lillian Kohler of Sheboygan, and nine grandchildren. Mrs. Herbert Kohler is the former Ruth De Young, one-time woman's editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The funeral services will be at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the home in the village of Kohler. Burial will be in Kohler cemetery. Father A. Parker Curtiss, pastor emeritus of Grace Episcopal church of Sheboygan, will conduct the services. Father Curtiss, who is visiting in California, left Los Angeles tonight for Sheboygan.

C. S. TAINTER, 85, PHYSICIST AND INVENTOR, DEAD

With his hard wax disk record, Tainter was credited with having made phonographs commercially possible. He was the inventor of the dictograph and he was the first to transmit sound thru the agency of light. He also was known as the "father of the talkies."

Tainter, a native of Watertown, Mass., began his career as an instrument maker in Boston. It was there he met Bell and became associated with the inventor of the telephone. Bell and Tainter later went to Washington, D. C., and organized the Volta Laboratory association, where they worked for years on numerous inventions, including the graphophone.

Chicagoans who looked closely were able last night to see a partial eclipse of the moon. The eclipse began at 8:28 p. m. and passed at 12:26 a. m. Skies were clear and the moon was full, giving perfect conditions.

Miss Maude Bennot, director of the Adler planetarium, said the eclipse was so slight as to give the moon the appearance of a dirty face. The eclipse was caused by a half shadow of the earth. The shadow appeared in the lower right hand area of the moon.

Thruout the week Miss Bennot will give lectures on lunar eclipses at the planetarium, at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. week days and 2:30 p. m. and 3:30 p. m. next Sunday. Evening lectures will be at 8 p. m. on Tuesday and Friday.

Good Morning!

That valorous little hen pheasant, Blondie, who spends her life clucking, fluffing up over and overcoming difficulties that beset her married life with her hapless husband, Dagwood, and their chubby and disquietingly observant boy child, Baby Dumpling, concentrates this trip on a BUDGET and A BRUNETTE. . . . And, as usual, wards off danger—mostly imaginary—from her cosy nest.

The budget is menaced by Dagwood's desire to join a trout club and Blondie's passion to own a "chubby." THE BRUNETTE really isn't a menace at all, but appearances are against her and Blondie thinks that she is, and governs her actions accordingly.

The great affection of these young marrieds for each other and Baby Dumpling, and their intrinsic unselfishness, this time as always, assert themselves in time to keep the trio intact for—another episode of the series.

A lot of the action is overdrawn and all of it is utterly naïve. But I hold, as ever, that the "Blondie" films are easy-to-take brain easers.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Impressions.

New York, April 21.—The Broadway theatrical season would be a complete flop without the aid of Hollywood names. "Lady in Waiting" is built around Gladys George. "Lilliom" has Ingrid Bergman. "Wizard of Oz" supplies Bert Lahr to "Du Barry Was a Lady," and Jack Haley to "Higher and Higher." . . . In fact, if you survey the Broadway stage you find Betty [Legs] Grable, Glenda Farrell, Franchot Tone, Flora Robson, John Garfield, Aline MacMahon, Harry Carey, Elliott Nugent, J. C. Nugent, and Shirley Ross all present or accounted for. . . . The presentation and vaude houses feature our crowd, Treacher, Lugosi, Marjorie Weaver, Helen Parris, Doug MacPhail and Betty Jaynes, Lupe Velez, and Eddie Cantor. The pendulum, in other words, has swung the other way.

Talk of Broadway, currently, is the record shattering business that the Hollywood gang is doing at Loew's State. Despite rain and wind, the invaders from Vine and Sunset have been jamming the theater since they opened, long lines standing in the rain to get in to see them. They have been doing the hugest business Broadway vaude has hailed in months. . . . At the Stork club: Al Jolson with Marjorie Weaver. . . . Mrs. Jock Whitney, when she gets the $3,000,000 divorce settlement, will put some of it in Broadway shows. That's as quick a way to get rid of it as any other. Actually, "Gone with the Wind" coin will be involved in the Whitney settlement. Jock is cleaning up a fortune with that picture. . . . The Don Ameche stork will make a June landing. . . . Gale Page may try it again with Chicagoan Charlie Smith.

Broadway night clubs, the old-fashioned spots where it was sufficient to sandwich in specialties between production numbers performed by 30 or 40 shapely chorines and show girls, are out of business. The explanation, I think, is fairly simple. Wall street and mobster patronage kept the old style night clubs in operation. The government flattened out Wall street, Dewey steam rolled the mobsters and with that money withdrawn, the old type girl show dropped into oblivion. The stem doesn't seem quite the same without the chorus girls.

The old street has changed certainly, and perhaps for the better. Gone forever are those nights at the Old Silver Slipper, at a Van and Schenck opening, when the Detroit crowd would order champagne sent to every table in the place, and the Boston crowd would do likewise.

Texas Guinan sassed customers impertinently, to their great delight; Helen Morgan crooned about "My Bill" at Lou Schwartz's place; Richman and Frances Williams wrestled on the floor of Club Richman; Tommy Lyman brought tears to maudlin drunks with "Melancholy Baby"; at Château Madrid, Jack White sang louder to divert attention from Jack "Legs" Diamond, who was boffing a butter and egg man over the conk with a convenient bottle, and at the Frivolity Nellie Nelson and Maxine Lewis held the floor between Clayton, Jackson, and Durante numbers. Years later, Maxine's kid sister, Diane, was to become a headliner by becoming Mrs. William Powell.

The town was rolling in dough. Rough and ready chaps who had been broke for years suddenly coined fortunes because they could unload the liquor vessels in Rum row and get the precious bottles to the hands and palates of thirsty customers. Deaths were sudden and violent.

In the background of clubs you saw Sime Silverman, D. W. Griffith, Irving Berlin and other celebs applauding Durante; occasionally you saw the ailing Bill Fallon, or Rothstein or "Frenchy" De Mange or Charlie Chink Sherman, who would show the watch that Rothstein had given him. Then prohibition was repealed.

When you say that Broadway has changed, don't weep too bitterly over the passing of something that was fairly ugly to those of us who lived in it. The kids think that what has passed was glamorous, but for every Ziegfeld or Sime Silverman there were 10 vicious killers. The Broadway of 1940 is a vast improvement over the Broadway of the prohibition days. That was a pretty tough street, my little chickadees.

Junior League, Infant Welfare to Meet Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

TODAY will be no ordinary "blue" Monday, for the next 18 hours will be crammed with several interesting events. Members of the Chicago Junior league and officers in the various branches of the Infant Welfare society of Chicago will don their spring best for the annual spring meetings of these two organizations this morning.

Friends of the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children and theatrical first night regulars will change into their best bibs and tuckers for a benefit broadcast by Alec Templeton in Highland Park and the opening of "The Little Foxes" with Tallulah Bankhead, at the Selwyn theater tonight.

Sixteen hundred tickets have been sold to the broadcast, which will be made from the stage of the Highland Park High school auditorium. After the program Mr. Templeton, Pat O'Malley, the whole orchestra and a guest artist will give an hour's concert.

Several Dinner Parties to Precede Broadcast.

Since the doors to the auditorium will be closed at 8:10 o'clock, those giving dinner parties have urged their guests to be prompt. Among those who are entertaining before the broadcast are Mrs. James M. Miller, president of the board of the camp; the H. Foster Straws, the Nicholas Starosselskys, the John L. Clarksons, and Capt. and Mrs. Jasper Brady. Mrs. Elliott Detchon was chairman of the ticket selling group that was so successful.

The league meeting and election of officers will be held at 11 o'clock at the Drake hotel and will be followed by a buffet luncheon in the club rooms. The guest speaker will be John Pratt, costume designer, artist, and collector of blackamoor figures. His collection now is on view at the American Institute of Decorators.

Mr. Pratt designed the costumes for the "Tropical Pinafore." Some of his costumes designed for other events will be modeled by league members while he talks.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Infant Welfare will meet for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Racquet club. The luncheon always is a gay party and well attended. Mrs. Vincent P. Oatis is president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Gove Compton Speaks Today in Geneva.

Another gay luncheon party will be held at the Little Traveller in Geneva today. The dining room will be filled to overflowing by a large group of country dwellers who are anxious to hear Mrs. Gove Compton speak on "I am a Farmer." The Comptons have moved from Wayne to Blackberry Township, near Elburn, Ill., and Mrs. Compton will tell how it feels to be a real farmer and administrator and what she does all day.

Mrs. Compton has studied and prepared for her career as a farmer much as a titled Englishwoman or a French chatelaine does. Mrs. Columbus Healy, Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson, and Mrs. Montgomery Orr are some of those who have taken tables for luncheon preceding Mrs. Compton's talk.

Edmund J. Doerings Take Lake Forest House.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering have taken the Wayne Chatfield Taylor house in Lake Forest for the summer and will move into it on May 1. They recently returned from Hobe Sound, Fla., where they spent the latter part of the winter. One of their daughters, Mrs. Harold Hartog, who lives in Paris, joined them in Florida. She will remain in Lake Forest this summer. Mr. Hartog is expected to join her Aug. 1 for a month.

Mrs. Ambrogio Cassinerio, the former Edna Doering, hopes to sail from her home in Italy June 15 or a little earlier to spend the summer here. Her little daughter, born last July in Lake Forest, remained with Mr. and Mrs. Doering when Capt. and Mrs. Cassinerio went back to Italy.

The Walter S. Brewsters will be moving out to their Lake Forest home about May 1. They will be there only six weeks, however, for the George A. Ranneys, who had the place last sum-

Plan Madonna Center Dinner-Dance

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Ralph J. Mills and Mrs. George F. Douaire Jr. lunch together to discuss plans for the Madonna center's 17th annual dinner-dance, to be held next Saturday night in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Mrs. Mills is general chairman of the committee in charge and Mrs. Douaire is publicity chairman. There will be a cocktail party for the dance committee from 5 to 7 o'clock this afternoon at the Racquet club.

Cool Weather Can't Hold Back Street Sheers

BY REA SEEGER.

A long session of wishful thinking about warm weather brought out new street sheers in navy and black. Exasperated shoppers will doubtless buy them while they're so new and crisp, either flirt with pneumonia by wearing them now, or hide them away to trot them out next August when such a delightful bit of airy coolness can't be found with a search warrant. Perspicacious clothes collectors will buy now.

Simple but telling daytime dresses are on display. Especially new models are cut with high covered up necklines, and otherwise simple outlines. Sleeves are slightly puffed or gathered into cuffs that clear the elbow; skirts are flared and waistlines still neatly defined.

Tucked, ribbed, and shirred net is the favorite patterned stuff for the daytime dresses and two piece suits. Filmy sheers with a smooth old-fashioned georgette crêpe texture make smart tailored ensembles of dress and long coat. Grosgrain ribbon, bands of crêpe or taffeta alternate with bands of the sheer or net. Marquisette, coarse and fine meshed net, stiffened or starched chiffons are the most popular materials together with the heavier clinging sheer crêpes such as ninon or georgettes. Organdies, marganza, and other extremely thin materials will doubtless come along later, when the weather is less chilly.

The afternoon dresses are delightfully young and feminine with trick formations of ruffled material, soft ruchings of silk or the newest black and navy blue lace trim. They'll double for cocktail or new theater costumes now, under the cozy warmth of a dark wool or bright colored coat. Later with white hats and gloves such ensembles will take you coolly and smartly dressed, all thru a torrid day in town.

As usual the best looking models go out before you can time the transactions and seldom do the prize winners come back for a return engagement.

Danish Legend.

HOLGER DANSKE
Hans Christian Andersen.

In Denmark there lies a castle named Kronenburgh. It lies close by the Oer sound, where the ships pass thru by the hundreds every day—English, Russian, and likewise Prussian ships. And they salute the old castle with cannons—"Boom!" And the castle answers with a "Boom!" for that's what the cannons say instead of "Good day!" and "Thank you!" In winter no ships sail there, for the whole sea is covered with ice quite across to the Swedish coast, but it has quite the look of a highroad. There wave the Danish flag and the Swedish flag, and Danes and Swedes say "Good day!" and "Thank you!" to each other, not with cannons, but with a friendly grasp of the hand, and one gets white bread and biscuits from the other—for strange fare tastes the best. . . .

But the most beautiful of all is the old Kronenburgh, and here it is that Holger Danske sits in the deep, dark cellar, where nobody goes. He is clad in iron and steel, and leans his head on his strong arm; his long beard hangs down over the marble table and has grown into it. He sleeps and dreams, but in his dreams he sees everything that happens up there in Denmark. Every Christmas eve comes an angel, and tells him that what he has dreamed is right, and that he may go to sleep again in quiet, for that Denmark is not yet in any danger, but when once such a danger comes, then old Holger Danske will rouse himself, so that the table shall burst when he draws out his beard! Then he will come forth and strike, so that it shall be heard in all the countries of the earth.

An old grandfather sat and told his little grandson all this about Holger Danske, and the little boy knew that what his grandfather told him was true. And when the little fellow was in his bed, he thought so much of it that he actually pressed his chin against the coverlet and fancied he had a long beard that had grown fast to it.

But the old grandfather remained sitting by the fire and thought of all he had read and heard, and that he had told this evening to the little boy; and he nodded, and wiped his spectacles, and put them on again, and said:

"Yes, in my time Holger Danske will probably not come, but the boy in the bed yonder may get to see him and be there when the struggle really comes."

But the little lad in the bed saw plainly the old Kronenburgh, with the Oer sound, and the real Holger Danske, who sat deep below, with his beard grown thru the marble table, dreaming of all that happens up here. Holger Danske also dreamed of the little humble room where the grandfather sat; he heard all that passed, and nodded in his sleep, and said:

"Yes, remember me, ye Danish folk; remember me. I shall come in the hour of need."

And without, by the Kronenburgh, shone the bright day, and the wind carried the note of the huhting horn over from the neighboring land; the ship sailed past and saluted, "Boom! boom!" and from the Kronenburgh came the reply, "Boom! boom!" But Holger Danske did not awake, however loudly they shot, for it was only "Good day!" and "Thank you!"

There must be another kind of shooting before he awakes, but he will awake, for there is faith in Holger Danske.

Elman Recital Emphasizes His Superior Tone

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Mischa Elman's recital at the Civic Opera house last night emphasized in exciting fashion the qualities that go to make him one of the most consistently satisfying of all violinists.

The most spectacular of these qualities is, of course, the Elman tone. In the Bach arioso and in the slow movement of the Mendelssohn concerto the violin sang with such utter purity that the most watchful and critical ear would probably have been unable to detect any nonmusical admixture in the sound. Besides its purity, this tone had a shining, luminous quality [subtly different in the two works, of course, because of their differing character] which added immeasurably to the music's power.

Where music of an entirely different type called for an entirely different type of tone quality [as in the allegro of the Franck sonata] the violin took on what might almost be called a passionate shrillness—except that it was not shrill. That is, Mr. Elman consistently stayed one cautious millimeter this side of squeakiness.

As important as his command of tone is Mr. Elman's ability to give his phrases an objective, almost architectural beauty, and, at the same time, to personalize them and take them entirely out of the class of museum objects. Even in last night's classical music the phrases, no matter how serenely self-existing they might seem to be, always bore the Elman stamp somewhere. A tiny rubato, a delicate accent, an especially radiant color effect—things such as this would give a phrase that final, necessary personal quality without compromising its classical contours.

To continue the fiction that a great artist's qualities may be separated and analyzed like the ingredients of a cake, Mr. Elman's aliveness and his scrupulousness must be listed third and fourth. As to the former, he always approaches a piece [even an old war horse] in the eager belief that he can find something new and good in it. And he usually does.

"Scrupulousness," as applied to Mischa Elman, means two things—a respect for the integrity of the composer [there is no false showmanship] and a determination to give every audience the best that's in him.

The Valparaiso university choir, a mixed group of about 70 voices directed by Richard Schoenbohm, offered a program of unaccompanied choral music—mostly sacred—in the Studebaker theater yesterday.

The choir sang in an easy, open way and was able to achieve considerable sonority without roughening the music's texture. The group's basic tone quality and the variety of expressive shadings which it used were remarkably rich.

Also, the performance was marked by a quite out-of-the-ordinary precision and vigor. So clean was the choir's work that its words were clearly intelligible even in rapid passages.

Crowded House Hears Marian Anderson Sing

BY CECIL SMITH.

The Auditorium theater was crowded to capacity yesterday afternoon, with extra seats in the orchestra pit and ticket scalpers reported to be active outside the theater entrance, as Marian Anderson, the celebrated Negro contralto, sang her second and final recital of the season.

Miss Anderson's program followed the formula to which she adheres, season after season, with considerable rigidity: A group of pre-classical arias [this time Handel and Carissimi]; a group of nineteenth century art songs [this time by Beethoven and Hugo Wolf]; an operatic aria [this time Lia's air from Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue"]; a miscellaneous group [this time by Dvorak, Bantock, Kosti Vehanen, her accompanist, and Alvarez—omitting, for once, all reference to Sibelius], and a final sequence of Negro spirituals.

The singer was in better voice than at her last appearance. Her tone flowed more naturally and easily, and regained much of the amplitude it seemed to be losing earlier this season.

In the main Miss Anderson has fallen into the habit of treating too much of her music ponderously and slowly, often sacrificing lyric movement and rhythmic point for mere sobriety. Her first recitals were much brighter, and used to give an occasional glimpse of a delightful sense of humor. I have begun to wonder whether she is weighed down by the sense of responsibility her great success must have brought her.

For the benefit of the college chapel fund of the Principia college at Elsah, Ill., Frank Parker, diseur and dance mime, gave a one-man show in the Goodman theater. His varied repertory included old French and English songs, presented in costume and with mimetic embellishments; dances with masks, some period and some abstract; and solo skits somewhat in the manner of Cornelia Otis Skinner. The material, usually deftly presented, was frequently diverting, if tenuous and precious. A mimed song representing the struggle of a French monk with the devil was perhaps the best composition, tho it was dramatically overdrawn. The low point of the program was an episode which wholeheartedly misrepresented the motives that caused Mozart to compose music.

The Stage

"Margin for Error," a melodrama with an anti-Nazi viewpoint by Clare Boothe, will come to the Grand Opera house on Monday, May 6. It will be the sixth and last subscription play of the Theater Guild and American Theater society. To make way for "Margin for Error," the revue, "The Streets of Paris" will close on May 4, instead of remaining, as originally announced, until May 8.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller.

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

INSTALMENT I.
AN OUT-OF-TOWN GUEST.

Secretly Mrs. Dunham was disappointed that she was not dining with Shard at his own house or apartment, or wherever it was that he lived. She imagined something dignified with portraits and an English butler and open fires.

At first when she heard that deep, that just-not-gruff voice of his over the telephone, saying "I hope you've saved one evening for me," she had been so much pleased that she hadn't thought of anything else. "O, yes, I have," she answered, not meaning to be deceitful, for of course she hadn't saved an evening for him—no one had asked her to do anything except a man in the lotion department who had been kind enough to take her to dine at a cafeteria and go to the Music hall afterward.

It was fun to be dining at one of the best restaurants in New York with a man for whom the head waiter said he was keeping his usual table, brushing elbows with celebrities—a famous actress, a newspaper owner, a great gambler. Shard pointed them out to her in the narrow entrance hall, before he moved across to leave his hat and coat with the hat check boy.

She watched him with adoring eyes—not exactly handsome, no, but so virile, so vital, so sure of himself. She saw him step over the trailing garments of a lady just entering without glancing at her; it was she who stopped him. "Mr. Shard, don't you remember me? You sat next to me at dinner . . ."

"Of course I remember." Mrs. Dunham was sure he didn't remember at all—he was just being nice, and as the lady was beautifully dressed and pretty, she was surprised and admiring of such indifference.

Coming back to her, slipping his check into the pocket of his white waistcoat, he asked: "Shall we go to the bar and have cocktails? Our other guests are apt to be a little late."

"O, I didn't know that anyone else was coming."

"Two old friends of mine—the Stewarts—that's all."

Her heart sank. Without much social experience, she knew what this meant—he would talk all the evening with the wife, and she would be abandoned to the husband.

"I hardly ever drink cocktails."

"You hardly ever come to New York on a business visit." They entered the bar. "Good evening, Bill—two champaign cocktails."

They sat down side by side on a dark satin divan against the wall.

"Tell me something," she said. "That lady who spoke to you—did you really remember her when you said you did?"

He laughed. "I still don't remember her. Did I show it so clearly?"

"O, no, she didn't know it, but I did because I know you so well . . ." She caught herself abruptly—what a silly thing to say—she didn't really know him well—he wouldn't think so. She had seen him only a few times.

She was a plain sensible woman of 50 absorbed in the many cares of her life, and he was a successful young man, still in the 30s. She would have been angry and amused at anyone who had told her that she was in love with him, and yet no other words indicate the depth of her admiration for him, and the wild interest that she took in everything he did and said.

Two years before he had come to her native state to inspect his factories. Her husband was then head of the company for that district, and the Dunhams had, rather fearfully asked Shard to stay. He had politely declined, on the ground that he would be freer at the hotel. Every one was relieved at his decision. But when he actually arrived, the hotel was in the grip of labor trouble, and Shard had spent a night at the Dunhams.

Mrs. Dunham discovered at once, to her own surprise, that she wasn't a bit afraid of him—in fact everything in her house seemed to her pleasanter and better in his presence, instead of seeming meager and tasteless as it did after the annual visit of her husband's sister from Seattle—altho Mrs. Dunham knew perfectly well that her sister-in-law at home lived most uncomfortably.

Even Millicent Dunham, absorbed in her own intense life as the local belle, had been impressed by him. "He must have been an awfully attractive man in his day, mother," she had said. "In his day, Millicent!—what do you mean?—he's a young man . . ." But Millicent had laughed at this, and answered that he didn't seem so to "us." Us! a silly band of young people who rushed about in each other's cars turning on everybody's radio to listen to nonsense . . . Mrs. Dunham had never come so near to feeling disgusted with her only child—not to know a great gentleman when she saw one!

It was this brief hospitality that he was now repaying; only in her estimation it had been repaid already. Soon after that visit her husband had died leaving her nothing. Shard had helped her to start in business as the selling agent of a great cosmetic firm. She had come to New York then and he had taken her to see the head man and made it seem so natural and easy that she could be chosen. . . . Only afterward did she come to understand how much he had done for her.

Now, sitting on the dark red divan he began to ask her questions about her business—questions that showed he had really thought about her and her situation. Yes, she was doing well, considering it was only 18 months . . . the two things she dreaded most weren't going to happen—she wouldn't have to sell the house her husband had built when they married, and she wouldn't have to let her daughter go to work—she couldn't bear that idea—so lovely—half the boys in town wanted to marry her, and of course she would marry within a few years. . . . She tried to stop talking about Millicent . . . Millicent hated it so. She wrenched herself away from the beloved topic.

"But tell me about your other guests before they come," she said.

"O." He seemed to be assembling his thoughts. "Yes, there's a good deal to know. Aleck Stewart has become, from rather unlikely material, a saint and a martyr. He was gassed as a boy in the war, and he holds to life by a thread—but with a courage and a gaiety."

"How very sad. And Mrs. Stewart?"

"O, Constance is simply the most beautiful creature you ever saw—and has given her whole life to him—a great person—you'll like her, I think."

Would she? She hoped so, for she saw with the clear eyes of devotion that Shard was in love with this lady—that was why he had never married—that was why he had been so indifferent to Millicent, hardly seeming to be aware of all that beauty and freshness under the same roof with him. He was in love with this woman, the tragedy of the husband keeping them apart—but how much apart?

These dreadful voracious married women of New York who seemed to take and take and pay no price! In Kansas also they took, but there they paid—they were condemned and talked about. In New York she understood there were no such high standards. She wished passionately the Stewarts wern't coming—that she might have had this evening to herself, and yet there was a certain excitement about meeting them—it would make a thrilling letter to Millicent . . . the restaurant, and the champagne cocktails, and then on top of everything, an illicit love affair. She saw him rising.

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

CONCLUSION.
ACCEPTED PROPOSAL.

As soon as Sam was dismounted the commissioner stepped over and took his guns, and Sam did not demur. Lovejoy, Drury, Celia, the commissioner and Sam stepped into the sheriff's office and Lovejoy shut the door. Celia was holding her father's hand, and when she saw them all looking at her she laughed a little shakily.

"It wasn't bad," she said. "I was scared, I guess, at the last."

"Who was it?"

Sam leaned against the wall, his face wary and faintly embarrassed, as Celia told of the fight on the Rim, and of Sam's rescuing her.

When she finished, the commissioner cleared his throat.

"That took nerve, Miss Drury. Still, it was the nerve of a murderer, even if he did save you."

Celia's eyes flashed. "You mean Sam is Steve's killer?"

"He is. I—I'm sorry to have to say it."

"Then don't say it!" Celia cried. "Because he isn't. Those three men dead at the Rim are Steve's murderers!"

"How do you know?"

"Because those two, Shorty and Tex, were bragging about it to me while Santee Bales slept."

A quiet smile creased Sam's face. "That's tough, commissioner, isn't it? You hoped it would be me."

The commissioner turned to look at Sam, his honest face grave. "I did not," he said quietly. "Last night, I began to hope I was wrong about you. But that murder was something I could not forgive." He smiled now. "I was wrong about you, plumb wrong, and I admit it here and now." He crossed over to Sam and put out his hand. "I'd like to eat my crow in public. That amnesty still stands, teacher, and we'll call all the reward posters in, I can speak for the governor in that. And I speak for myself when I say I would like to shake your hand."

Sam's face thawed out gradually and he put out his hand. "I—I guess I was kind of rough on you."

"You were. About as rough as I deserved."

They shook hands then, the commissioner just as warmly as Sam.

"What about Pearly? He broke me out of jail and spoiled that capture yesterday," Sam said.

"You can't imprison a man for rescuing an innocent man, can you? Let's free him now."

They all went into the cell block except Celia and Sam. It was Celia who stepped over to the door and drew its bolt, assuring them privacy.

"You'll get hell for that," Sam said quietly.

"I don't care," Celia said calmly. She hesitated. "Where are you going now, Sam?"

"I'll drift."

Celia nodded dully. "I thought so."

Sam's curiosity quickened. "You don't want me to?"

"What if I did?"

The alertness went out of Sam's face, but there was a dogged determination there. "Nothing, nothing," he said. "Only, well—I——"

"Say it, Sam," Celia said in a low voice.

"I reckon not," Sam said. "It won't do no good. I've been an outlaw and I reckon I always will be. Only"—he looked at her gravely—"you're just a copy of me in skirts, Celia. You were wild and cocky and tough, like me. And I saw you tame yourself and turn into somethin' folks can't help but like. Well—I——" his voice died.

Celia wouldn't help him. He gulped and went on. "I thought kind of that we should stay knowin' each other. Like, well——"

"Sam," Celia said gently. She walked over to him. "Are you trying to tell me you love me, even if you've been a saddle-bum and I've been a rich bum?"

"Yes," Sam said.

"Then why don't you say so. Because I love you and I want to be near you all my life."

Sam folded her to him, feeling all the old hunger dissolve. It was only the pounding on the door that roused them, and Celia, holding Sam's hand, opened it.

Pearly was first out. He took one look at Celia and Sam and then turned to Drury. "Think you're old enough to retire, Matt, and let me work for a younger man?" He looked at Celia. "Ain't that what you're tryin' to say, that you've found your man and you want your dad to like him?"

"That's it," Celia said, looking at her father.

Matthew Drury looked at Celia and then at Sam and his glance lingered on Sam the longest. "Pearly has worn out one boss, Sam. You want to give him a chance at the second?"

THE END.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Parlor, Bedroom and Rehearsal Hall

According to CULBERTSON

(Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.)

Many a player would groan less away from the bridge table if he thought more while sitting at it. South played today's hand badly, yet instead of acknowledging that fact, he complained that the odds favored his line of play by three to one. Even this, however, was not a very reasonable ground for complaint when it is considered that his contract was ironclad by another line of play.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the jack of diamonds and South won with the queen. Declarer could count five tricks in the minor suits, and saw that if either heart honor were in West's hand, four more tricks could be obtained in the heart suit. The odds were three to one that West would have at least one of the two outstanding honors.

Without thinking any further about the hand, South immediately led the nine of hearts and let it ride. East won and returned a diamond. South took another heart finesse and this also lost.

The result is only too easy to see. Declarer made only three heart tricks and his five tricks in the minor suits, and the defenders made five tricks with ease.

South should have seen that against any division of cards he was sure of making three tricks in the spade suit, the ace of hearts and his five tops in the minor suits. He should not have touched the heart suit at all, but should have gone right after the spades.

He still had two stoppers in the minor suits and, according to his own view, had nothing much to fear in hearts. A three to one shot is good enough when nothing better offers, but it should not be preferred to an absolutely certain line of play.

Nothing seems to contribute more to the smooth operation of the human machine than a good, crisp, cold salad with every lunch and dinner. A cat, when ill, seeks a green and growing plant as his medicine. Man, when he feels somewhat "under the weather," often craves something crisp, raw and vegetable, too.

Delmonico Salad.
[Serves six.]

1 cup fresh cooked peas
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup finely chopped sweet pickles
½ cup diced Swiss or American cheese
½ cup diced cucumber
1 tomato, diced
French dressing
Mayonnaise
Lettuce

Combine salad ingredients with a mixture of French dressing and mayonnaise and serve in a bowl of lettuce. Garnish with ripe olives. Or add pitted ripe olives to the salad. To pit ripe olives easily, roll them with a rolling pin first, to loosen the seeds.

DANDELION AND LEEKS SALAD.

Boil a bunch of leeks in salted water, drain and slice. Cover with a tart French dressing. Chill for several hours and add to clean, crisp dandelion greens in a bowl. Toss with enough more dressing to moisten.

LETTUCE, CRESS AND TURNIP SALAD.

You'll need one of those combination graters and slicers for the turnips. They should be sliced paper-thin and crisped in cold water. Combine slices from one good sized turnip with a bowlful of lettuce and watercress, and toss with onion French dressing.

Tomato, Celery and Almond Salad.
(Serves four.)

½ head lettuce, shredded
½ bunch watercress
4 medium tomatoes, peeled
½ cup celery, cut fine
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
French dressing

Line a salad bowl with clean, crisp and cold lettuce and watercress. Add quartered tomatoes and sprinkle with celery and almonds. Serve with French dressing, adding it at the table.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

April 22, 1940.

Twenty-two is a special number which we do not reduce to a 4, altho it also has the elements of that number also. Those born on the 22d of any month have a great deal to live up to in the way of their life's work. To them is given the challenge of leadership. It is a high powered number, giving stimulation and nervous energy. To fulfill the requirements successfully the vocation chosen should involve executive power, universality, and practical application of ideals. A judge, general, engineer, public benefactor thru invention or the arts are all possibilities. Those with this particular birthday are urged to work towards practical ends this year. Build solidly and orderly.

Monday, April 22.

Stay in the well worn groove today, but don't be lazy. Look at the problems of those in the job ahead of you; study the influence of the old; listen to elders. Afternoon hours warn that new notions need another good look later on; wait.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if you celebrate this date, brings personal spotlight, especially now to mid-June, and from mid-October. Push for permanent gain; cultivate those older, wiser, more powerful. Danger: June 29-July 11, Nov. 11-29, March 30-April 6, 1941.

Tomorrow.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Every important period is indicated for you, according to the laws of astrology. Send 10 cents to Wynn, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Write plainly your name, date of birth and address.

Youth Entitled to Own Choice of Vocations

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

His father's a lawyer, a very busy and successful one. The boy was to have followed in his footsteps, but for a long time after he was 21 [not wanting even to go to college] he couldn't settle down to any one job. The only thing he was constant about was his interest in the drama and in acting. His parents were furious.

"But you can't force a boy into a profession," said a friend of the family. "Now he's signed up with one of the leading summer theaters, and he's supremely happy."

Another boy's family was determined he should go to college. He was eager to get right into the business world when he finished high school. They were bitterly disappointed. He now has a fair position, is very contented, and is studying Spanish at night to fit himself for the next step up.

I hear reports such as this often, of parents deciding on a child's career without considering his desires, or frequently even his ability.

Naturally we want the best for our children. It is right to be ambitious for them and to want them to take advantage of opportunities, but we can carry that only so far, and only in a direction that seems to fit their tendencies and actual talents. You can do just so much. The rest they must do themselves.

It is a sorry picture, even a tragic one at times, that of the square peg in the round hole, that of the man or woman in a job he or she hates or is unfitted for. Every one who possibly can, and every one surely can who has a decided bent, should do work he likes. To count each day a loss of living until leisure hours and leisure pursuits come is a great pity, yet I know many who do this. Fewer people would experience it if they had not been forced by their parents into uncongenial work to satisfy either those parents' pride or their frustrated ambitions.

Public Library Joins National Crusade to Teach American Way

The Chicago Public library will join in projects with public libraries in all parts of the country today in connection with the National Children's crusade for children. Headed by Dorothy Canfield Fisher of Arlington, Vt., the movement will dramatize for American children the advantages of the American way of life and aid child refugees in many lands. Anne Carroll Moore of New York is chairman of the crusade's library committee.

Penny contributions from American children for the aid of homeless refugee children in other countries will be received during the remainder of April. Agatha L. Shea, director of children's work of the Chicago Public library, is a member of the national librarians' committee.

Lutheran Synod Conclave Will Open Tomorrow

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Peter Peterson, veteran president of the Illinois conference of the Augustana Lutheran synod, will lead delegates to the annual meeting of the conference at Detroit, Mich., for the 21st time tomorrow. The meeting will continue thru the week. While Dr. Peterson announced his retirement as conference president last year after four terms of five years each, the conference drafted him for a one year term to effect administrative changes.

Dr. Peter Peterson.

The conference presidency is expected to be changed from a full time office to part time, with future presidents retaining pastorates.

Delegates said that sentiment for Dr. Peterson's retention of office is gaining ground, but said the new plan may call for the election of another nominee. Dr. Carl O. Bengtson of Immanuel church is vice president of the conference.

Dr. Peterson's 21st annual report cited notable gains for the period despite the post war times it covered.

"The Illinois conference had 49,690 confirmed members 21 years ago," it states. "Today it has 56,483, a net gain of almost 35 per cent. The net gain for the Augustana synod [National Lutheran body mainly of Swedish descent] for the same period is 29 per cent. The total annual expenditure for the Illinois conference was $595,340 21 years ago. Now it is $988,498."

Tailored or More Formal

MISS' SUMMER DRESSES.

One for your dressy moods, another for your tailored moods, these patterns are smart and easy to follow. The fabric you select may be as elegant or as simple as you please. Consult the budget, then proceed!

Left, a feminine, girlish, and really pretty dress with heart shaped neckline, gathered shoulder yoke, puffed sleeves, fitted bodice, slim waist, and full skirt. The cuffs on the sleeves and the yokeline at the shoulders are finished with ruffling. Sprigged cottons, especially sheer ones, are ideal mediums.

Right, a jumper costume with "stay put" shoulder straps, wide waistband, plaited skirt, and shirtwaist blouse. Topper and skirt may be matched or contrasted. Use silk and cotton in combination, or a silk or cotton blouse with a light weight woolen skirt.

Style No. 2649 is designed for sizes, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved dress, with 1¼ yards of ruffling.

Style No. 2725 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material for skirt; 1⅛ yards for blouse; 1¼ yards for short sleeved bolero.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Crocheted Vest for Men

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Lucky the man who is the recipient of a crocheted vest done in two colors. He may wear it for golf, with a sports suit on the spectators' bench, or even under a shirt as a chest protector against nippy breezes. Worked for the latter purpose, the sweater is ideal in a lightweight white, chiffon zephyr yarn. A tan and brown tweed mixture of fine vicuna or four ply sports wool may be used for sports. A minimum amount of yarn is required, and if one does not wish an entire crocheted jacket, the back part may be made of sateen in the pattern of a man's vest.

For instrutions in crocheting the men's sports vest, No. X-70, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There's a new lipstick that will forge ahead and take its place in the universal makeup parade. It's a red, red shade that has been softened down to where its brightness takes on a natural tone that is youthful. It's not a grating red, it's a restful one. That's a lot for one lipstick, but, whatever the formula, there's at least one part dash incorporated into it. It's lush softness make it generally wearable by blondes and brunettes and it plays up to the popular spring colors.

It goes on smoothly and if you like to use a lip brush to outline your lips, you'll find it creamy enough to use in this way.

To go with it, there's a dry rouge that gives a flattering tinge of color to the cheeks. There's a cream rouge that is unusually easy to use because it spreads so easily and you'll find your blushes all on the natural side. To finish off, there's a fine textured face powder blended to be worn with makeup, that will give your skin a velvety film of softness.

Grooming Important in Obtaining a Job and Advancing in It

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There can be little question in any one's mind today that to the well groomed go the plums in both business and social life. This applies to men as well as to women.

Probably the greatest influence in the demand for a high state of grooming is the amazing way that many young women on modest incomes manage that always fastidious look. Of course, they have youth on their side, which means that an inexpensive frock can look like a million dollars. And they have the young finger facility of doing their own hair, nails, and clever makeup duties.

There is an assurance expressed somehow when a young woman's person has the appearance of efficiency about it. If she can manage herself that well, she can be entrusted with responsibility by an employer. Anyway, that's their working psychology. The same goes for young men.

HOW TO MAKE FAMOUS TOLL HOUSE COOKIES

From the famous Toll House Inn at Whitman, Massachusetts, comes this recipe for cookies that are taking the country by storm. You never tasted such a heavenly combination of flavors . . . each bite with a delicious morsel of Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a nugget of walnut meat in it. And it's so easy if you follow this tested recipe. Try it tomorrow.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

BIG 10 DIRECTORS SCHEDULE CHICAGO IN BASKETBALL

ACCEPT REPORT BY METCALF ON MAROON STAND

Hutchins Denies Spokesman's Role.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The University of Chicago will be included in the 1941 basketball schedule of the Western conference, which will be released Wednesday. This was the decision yesterday of the directors of athletics of the Big Ten at their special meeting in the Sherman hotel.

All conference directors were present except Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, who was delayed returning from Syracuse, N. Y. Nels Norgren, Chicago basketball coach, and Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten, also met with the directors.

In deciding to include the University of Chicago in the 1941 basketball schedule the conference directors tacitly accepted Chicago's explanation to the questions they proposed in their meeting March 8 and 9 at the occasion of the Big Ten track and field meet in Chicago. These questions referred pointedly to issuance of an alumni pamphlet "containing false and derogatory statements about the conference," which was issued after the University of Chicago had announced its withdrawal from football last December, and to newspaper reports of statements derogatory to the conference by an unknown spokesman for the trustees of the university.

Hutchins Makes Indirect Denial.

This spokesman was quoted as saying, "You can't play Big Ten football without being crooked, as far as the league's rules are concerned, and they did not want the University of Chicago to be crooked."

It was published later that the spokesman was President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Hutchins entered a denial indirectly in a paragraph sent to T. Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics at Chicago, who included it in his letter to the Big Ten directors. Dr. Hutchins wrote acknowledging receipt of the minutes and resolution of the directors concerning "remarks attributed to me" and added:

"On the subject of subsidization in the Big Ten I have said in public and private only this: 'To achieve the peculiar advantages of winning football, the University of Chicago must, under its condition, subsidize players. The Intercollegiate conference has a sweeping rule forbidding subsidization. The university does not want winning teams at the cost of violating that rule.'"

Metcalf Explains Action.

Those directors who led the fight to retain Chicago in the Big Ten basketball schedule, including Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's director, who is chairman of the directors' group, pointed out yesterday that President Hutchins' remarks pertained only to the University of Chicago and that Dr. Hutchins thus denied any other statements.

Metcalf, in his letter, explained again why Chicago would have to subsidize players to have winning football teams. He wrote that Chicago's action in dropping football was not a "precipitate move" but that the situation had been "unsatisfactory to the university and students, alumni, public, and to the conference. The factors which produced this condition were beyond the control of the university. They are so well known to the directors of the other conference institutions they will be mentioned only in a general way."

Metcalf then listed the factors:

1. The undergraduate student body which is small in relation to other conference and even nonconference institutions.

Points to Scarcity of Athletes.

2. The large proportion of undergraduate transfer students eligible for only one year of intercollegiate competition and that of 1,800 undergraduate men the average of those

IT STILL LOOKS LIKE BIMELECH TO HARDBOOTS

Blue Grass Fans Stick to Derby Choice.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 21.—The outcome of yesterday's races at Havre de Grace, Keeneland, and Jamaica furnished horsemen of this blue grass capital with additional data for discussion of Kentucky Derby prospects, but it failed to shake them from their belief that nothing is going to beat Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech.

Further light on the situation will be provided by the Blue Grass stakes Thursday at Keeneland and the Wood Memorial Saturday at Jamaica.

The Blue Grass stakes will be the occasion not only for Bimelech's debut as a 3 year old, but also for the first appearance of his career on a Kentucky track, tho he was bred on Bradley's Idle Hour farm only a couple of miles from Keeneland. Furthermore, it may bring about the first meeting between Bimelech and Joseph E. Widener's Roman, which ran so brilliantly in winning Keeneland's Elmendorf purse yesterday. This outlook must be regarded only as a probability because nothing is more subject to change than the racing engagements of colts which are being pointed for the Derby.

Wood Memorial Eligibles.

Among the eligibles for the Wood Memorial are most of the eastern Derby candidates, including Carrier Pigeon, Flight Command, Fenelon, Andy K., Asp, and Robert E. Lee.

In winning the Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace yesterday, Pictor emerged as a dangerous Derby contender. His victory was no surprise to Maryland race followers who made him second choice in the betting despite the fact that he hadn't run enough to establish himself either as a good or a mediocre horse. His career as a juvenile had been limited to two starts at Delaware Park last June and one more at Saratoga in August. In these he finished sixth, third, and second, competing against undistinguished company.

When he returned to training this year, he seemed a much improved horse and gave indication of his progress by winning his only start this season by 12 lengths. This was also against slow opposition, but he ran so well and worked so impressively that he was backed down to odds of less than 3 to 1 in the Chesapeake against a field of five other Derby eligibles. He beat Royal Man by two lengths with Andy K. and Fenelon fighting it out for third place five lengths farther back. Andy K. got it by the margin of a head. General Manager and Maestro Sascha brought up the rear. Over a muddy track Pictor ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:53 officially, tho press box clockers timed him in 1:52.

In Smart Hands.

Pictor's Derby chances are increased by the fact that he is in the same smart hands and is a son of the same sire as Challedon, the all-age champion of last season. He is owned by W. L. Brann of Maryland and trained by Louis Schaefer. His sire is the Challenger II., which led all sires in 1939 due largely to Challedon's earnings.

Over at Jamaica three Derby eligibles, Flight Command, Merry Knight, and Marogay, went to the post against three other 3 year olds which are not nominated. The race was the Experimental handicap, the weights being based on John Campbell's rating of their merits displayed as juveniles last season. Flight Command, carrying top weight of 121 pounds, was beaten by his stablemate Parasang by a margin of four lengths. Merry Knight was third and Marogay fourth.

Flight Command didn't seem to fancy the sloppy footing. After finishing the six furlongs of the race, he was worked on out to seven furlongs in 1:28 3-5 and then galloped out the mile in 1:45. Flight Command is owned by C. V. Whitney.

Now appears a public notice
Scrawled in chalk for all to scan,
An announcement frankly stating
Namely this: that "Joe loves Ann."

Further details all are lacking,
Ann declares it isn't so,
And no statement is forthcoming
From the sheepish acting Joe.

Time will test the rumored romance,
But for casual passers-by,
Spring returns when this brief message,
"Joe loves Ann," confronts the eye.

LYONS CUTS DOWN BROWNS, 6-2, FOR 1ST SOX VICTORY

Veteran Yields 7 Hits; Kuhel Hits Homer.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—Ted Lyons, the affable and foxy oldster, this afternoon got his 18th White Sox season under way by hoisting his team away from the misery of a .000 standing [illegible] from the first two games in the American league pennant cam[illegible]ed went all the way in the accomplishment of a 6 to 2 victory over the Brown[illegible]'s 222d success in the Comiskey cause.

Lyons was a little slow in getting his old bones warmed up, but once warmed up he was a hot potato. He surrendered two hits in the first inning and three in the second. After the second he yielded only two hits, a single by Bob Swift in the fourth and a pinch double by Johnny Berardino with one out in the ninth. He gave up only three walks and was accorded perfect fielding support.

Kuhel Leads Attack.

The Sox biffed out a dozen hits, all in the first half dozen innings. Joe Kuhel, who kept the Chicagoans from suffering a shutout yesterday with a homer, produced the first two and the tying runs with another homer today. Other swatters of extra base hits were Julius Solters, Eric McNair, Taft Wright, and Mike Tresh, each of whom knocked a double. Three of the four doubles figured in run production.

The Sox got their first attack of the season under way in the third inning after laboring under a 2 to 0 deficit. The Browns scored in the first inning on Rip Radcliff's single and a double by Joe Gallagher. They produced another marker in the second inning on Don Heffner's single, an infield out, and a single by George Coffman, first of the Brownies' three pitchers.

Kuhel's Homer Ties Score.

Wright and McNair had wasted singles in the second inning as a warmup for their score tying exploit in the third inning. With one out in the third, Bob Kennedy singled and scored ahead of Kuhel when Joe knocked his second homer of the season, to the top of the right field pavilion. Mike Kreevich grounded out and Solters doubled, but the inning ended when Walter Judnich made a spectacular catch of Luke Appling's drive to right center.

In the fourth the Sox were in front

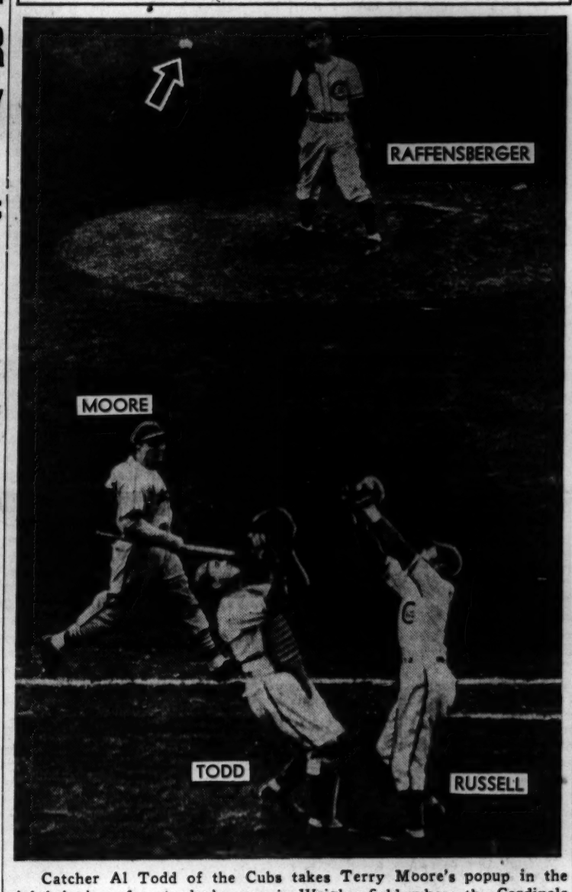
Cardinals Finally Break Thru



Catcher Al Todd of the Cubs takes Terry Moore's popup in the eighth inning of yesterday's game in Wrigley field, where the Cardinals routed Diz Dean, the unpredictable, and scored their first victory of the year, 5 to 4. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Clay Bryant, once a pitcher, now a pinch runner, is cut down at the plate by Catcher Mickey Owen on Martin Marion's throw from shortstop to keep the Cubs from tying the score in the ninth inning.

CARDS ROUT DIZ WITH 3 RUNS IN FIFTH INNING

Chicago Rally Folds Up in Ninth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The comeback of Diz Dean, a little matter promised intermittently for the last two years, has been postponed again. The famous Diz attempted to add another chapter to his life's story yesterday, but his old pals, the St. Louis Cardinals, disillusioned him in a hurry. They literally blew him out of Wrigley field inside of five innings and then, with the Dean problem settled, the Gas House gang proceeded to hold off the Cubs until the latter had been officially trimmed, 5 to 4, before 22,338 constituents.

Diz and his dipsy dey ball, which seems to be about the best he can get out of his well worn arm, did first rate for three innings. But the Gas Housers were merely getting the range. They found it in the fourth, when Diz was additionally menaced by errors in his own ranks. This burst accounted for two tying runs. Then in the fifth they just teed off. Four hits sent Diz to cover and a fifth off Rescuer Charley Root rounded out a winning three run rally.

No Oomph in the Clutches.

As hitters, the Cubs were good enough to require the services of five enemy pitchers, but in so doing they merely revealed an old weakness. They fashioned eleven hits, five of them doubles. They collected seven walks and had the extra assistance of one error. But thirteen of them were left stranded on the bases because of feebleness in the pinches. There was a sample of this impotency in each of the nine innings, the most aggravating of the lot being the ninth when the first two batters survived, but couldn't get home, even with the one run needed for a tie.

Except for Diz's failure to make good his boast that he was ready and probably would win at least 25 games this year, if they'd let him pitch, the Cards were kept fairly well under control. Root yielded only one hit in one-third inning, but it drove in a run. Ken Raffensberger, the rookie southpaw, followed with two innings in which the only damage was a single and it really did damage, at least to the lefty's right shin bone. He was withdrawn for a pinch hitter and for the ninth Vern Olsen, also a lefty, was introduced. He fanned two of the three men who faced him.

Rookies and Generosity.

The second inning run with which the Cubs launched the day's scoring was handled exclusively by rookies. Dallessandro led off with a healthy punch into the left field corner and stopped at second, altho there appeared to be ample time for him to stretch the drive into a triple. The next two batters found Curt Davis somewhat of a nuisance. He fanned Russell, and Todd was retired on a pop to Mize. But Sturgeon singled over short and Dallessandro scored. Diz closed the inning with a roller to Marion.

The Cubs' run in the third was hardly the result of a robust attack. In fact they did a painful fade out after getting four men to base with-

ROCKFORD TEAM FIGHTS CHICAGO IN BOUTS TONIGHT

Hans Schnabel to Wrestle at White City.

An amateur boxing and wrestling show will be held tonight in Broadway armory, Broadway and Thorndale avenue, and a professional mat card will be offered in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. A team from Rockford will meet a Chicago delegation in a series of fights in the Broadway arena.

Danno O'Mahoney and Hans Schnabel, heavyweight wrestlers, will clash in the feature bout in White City. Supporting matches bring together Bert Rubi and Bill Moore, Al Williams and Farmer Mack, Angelo Leone and Jack Moore, and Rudy Kay and Cecil McGill. . . . Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, who announced his retirement from the ring after being knocked out by Ed [Tipperary] Murray in White City on Dec. 15, will make a comeback in Columbus, O., this evening against Jack [Buddy] Walker. Walker scored a seven round knockout over Murray in Cincinnati March 6.

Maurice Tillet, the Angel, will be after his third victory over Gus Sonnenberg in a return wrestling encounter with the former Dartmouth football player in the Coliseum Thursday. The Angel defeated his heavyweight rival in Milwaukee on March 21 and in Hartford on April 11. . . . Promoter Irving Schoenwald is seeking an opponent for Eddie Lander, west side junior lightweight, in the next fight headliner in Marigold Gardens April 29. The show scheduled in the Marigold club tonight was canceled because of a Jewish holiday. . . . Milt Aron, No. 1 welterweight contender, will leave this week for Philadelphia for a 10 round rematch there next Monday against Cal Cagni. Cagni upset Aron in their first meeting, held in Philadelphia last month.

Eddie Simms, Cleveland heavyweight, has advised promoters he will be able to go thru with a contest against Lem Franklin in the Coliseum May 10. The match, one of three at 10 rounds featuring the program, originally was set for Friday, but a leg injury suffered by Simms in training last week forced postponement.

If May 10 is not available, the show may have to be delayed until May 24. Bill Rand, Chicago Stadium promoter, has closed a match in the west side arena May 10 between Bob Sikes, Pine Bluff, Ark., heavyweight, and Pat Comiskey of Paterson, N. J. However, Rand has neglected to file application for the date with the Illinois boxing commission.

Lou Ambers, former lightweight ruler, who has established training quarters in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round engagement with Normont Quarles in Charleston, W. Va., Thursday. . . . Henry Chmielewski, middleweight member of the Polish team which was defeated by Chicago in the 1934 international Golden Gloves tournament, will collect 17½ per cent of the gate receipts for a 10 round contest against Nate Bolden in White City May 3.

Big 10 Chiefs Keep Chicago on Schedule eligible for intercollegiate competition is less than 800.

3. That 65 per cent of the undergraduate body is in part or wholly self supporting.

4. That the educational program is somewhat more exacting than the former educational method.

It was pointed out that because of these factors Chicago could not compete on a basis of reasonable equality, that diminishing receipts made a game with Chicago a financial burden, and that there always was the prospect of serious injury to players.

Metcalf's statement also explained the Chicago alumni publication which the directors had termed "false and derogatory." He wrote that this pamphlet, "Concerning Football," was "financed and published independently by the Alumni Foundation without submitting the material to the athletic department, President Hutchins, or Dean Works, faculty representative."

Mail Vote Produces Deadlock.

Since no official of the University of Chicago had approved or authorized this pamphlet, it was argued yesterday Chicago did not violate conference procedure requiring the submission of all information bearing on eligibility matters to the members thru the prescribed channels altho the Alumni Foundation presumably is concerned largely with university business.

That there are two factions in the group of athletic directors is clearly indicated because yesterday's meeting had to be called after the failure of the mail vote on retention of Chicago cision. It is reliably reported that the mail vote or retention of Chicago in the basketball schedule was 4 and 4 with one university, other than Chicago, of course, not voting and requesting further information.

Plan Another Meeting in May.

So certain were the proponents of Chicago that the directors would accept the statements of President Hutchins and Director Metcalf that an official release was prepared before the meeting. The directors, however, added a paragraph to the statement. This read:

"The matter of further schedule making will be considered at the May meeting of the conference."

This might be considered routine procedure, as Yost said it was, except that the directors of athletics customarily discuss football schedules only at the May meeting and Chicago no longer plays football. Schedules in all sports except basketball are drawn at the December meeting of the conference directors and coaches. Schedule making except in basketball follows no definite procedure and this final paragraph may mean that the so-called Chicago question has not been settled.

The directors yesterday voted to hold the 1941 indoor track meet in Purdue's new fieldhouse instead of at the University of Chicago. The dates will be Feb. 28 and March 1, a week earlier than usual, to accommodate the Illinois relays.

WOMEN GOLFERS HOLD MEETING NEXT MONDAY

O. B. Keeler to Speak at Spring Luncheon.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Women's District Golf association will hold its annual spring luncheon in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House next Monday at 12:30 p. m. O. B. Keeler, the native Chicagoan who went on to become famous as Bobby Jones' Boswell, and who is now the golf expert of the Atlanta Journal, will be the principal speaker.

A short business meeting will be held in conjunction with the luncheon, including a brief discussion of handicaps, team matches, changes in the rules made by the U. S. G. A., and the C. W. D. G. A. schedule of events for the 1940 season.

Membership Dues Payable.

The annual membership dues of $5, which cover entry in team play, three open day tournaments, and the association's annual district tournament, are now payable. Margaret Kiernan of Exmoor, treasurer of the association, will be present at the meeting to accept payment of these dues. Luncheon reservations now may be obtained by mailing them to Miss Kiernan, 510 Madison avenue, Glencoe, Ill. The fee for the luncheon will be $1.40, tax included. Tables seating 10 and 12 persons may be obtained to afford respresentative grouping for individual clubs.

Schedule of Events.

The complete schedule of C. W. D. G. A. events for 1940 follows:

June 5—Intradistrict team match.
June 17-22—Illinois state tournament at Aurora.
July 3—Intradistrict team matches.
July 12—One day tournament at Butterfield.
July 17—Intradistrict team matches.
July 22-27—C. W. D. G. A. district tournament at Northmoor.
July 31—Intradistrict team matches.
Aug. 12—Pro ladies' annual event at Glen Oak.
Aug. 14—Team match finals.
Aug. 19-24—Club championship tournaments.
Aug. 26—Championship of Champions at Knollwood.
Aug. 30—Two-ball foursomes, election of officers, and luncheon at Olympia Fields.

Sherman J. McGee, a one armed golfer from St. Paul, comes forth with a suggestion on a tournament for players who are similarly handicapped. His plan is to form a National One-Arm Golf asosciation. If enough golfers of this type can be found, Mr. McGee suggests an annual tournament, to be held alone or in conjunction with some other tourney. He can be contacted at 1136 Edgerton street, St. Paul, Minn.

The Midwest Greenkeepers' association, composed of the men who are responsible for the cultivation and maintenance of golf courses in this area, will hold their annual dinner-dance and party Wednesday night at the Tam o' Shanter Country club. George S. May is president of Tam o' Shanter, and Ray Didier is chairman of the M. G. A. entertainment committee.

Walter Hagen has won a dollar or two and a trophy or three in his time, but he presently will be the recipient of one of the most unusual prizes in golf. It's a 126 page scrapbook collected by Harry E. Radix, former president of the Chicago District Golf association and long time friend of Hagen. Radix began collecting material for the book last August, at the time of the Hagen anniversary tournament at Midlothian. The book includes all of the stories prior to and during the tourney, and personal letters to Hagen from leading golfers and sports writers thruout the country.

Award of the 1940 national professional golf tournament to the Hershey, Pa., Country club from Aug. 26 to Sept. 1 brings up the fact that it is the first time in history that the event was played on the home course of the defending champion. Henry Picard, Hershey professional, won the 1939 title at Pomonok, N. Y., last July after a 37 hole final match with Byron Nelson.

TIGERS DEFEAT INDIANS, 12-2; FELLER ROUTED

Rowe Yields Only 5 Hits for Victory.

Cleveland, O., April 21 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers hammered Bob Feller from the mound with a five run attack in the third inning today and set the Indians down, 12 to 2, for Cleveland's first defeat of the season.

Barney McCosky, first man to face the no-hit hero of last week, rapped out a double and scored on another double by Charley Gehringer.

The big third inning gave the Tigers five runs on four hits—singles by Schoolboy Rowe, Dick Bartell, and McCosky, and Bruce Campbell's double—coupled with two walks, a wild pitch, and the hitting of Hank Greenberg by a pitched ball.

The Tigers got two more in the fourth off Harry Eisenstat, Rudy York tripling to score Gehringer and Greenberg. In the sixth, Detroit added another pair with a double by McCosky, a walk, a double steal, and Greenberg's single. Errors by Hal Trosky and Ray Mack in the eighth and ninth aided the Tigers to get two more runs.

Dodger Fans Scent a Title; Turn Serious

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 21 (AP).—For the first time in five years, the Yankees are going to have trouble in winning the world series. Brooklyn is going to be tough to beat!

Altho the season is just a handful of rain-spotted days old, there is no doubt on the banks of the Gowanus about which team will replace the Cincinnati Reds in the autumnal series.

Friday's home opener—a little matter of shellacking the hated New York Giants by 12 to 0—touched off the always pennant-conscious clansmen as no other opening day has done in recent years. So serious have the fans become that not a single tipsy rooter was lost by falling out of the upper decks, none of the red, white, and blue bunting was set ablaze [as is customary], and the expected firecracker fusilade was a fizzle—the fans feeling that such antics no longer are becoming to a pennant winner's progress.

The Best Is Yet to Come.

Walloping the Giants made the season a rousing success for the unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon [for two games] Dodgers—but everybody on the left bank of the East river knows there are more successes to come.

Along Fulton street, or Flatbush avenue, or even out in belligerent Brownsville—where a good murder costs only $11—there's talk of nothing else these rainy days but "when are the world series seats gonna go on sale?"

Baseball's cooler minds, not quite ready to offer the pennant to the Dodgers, can at least see some sound reasoning for all the excitement.

The Dodgers came north confronted by three problems. They weren't sure Whit Wyatt's knee was sound, they weren't sure Manager Leo Durocher could throw from his shortstop position and they weren't certain about the run making power of the club.

Logic of a Brooklyn Cabbie.

But a Brooklyn cabbie, hard by Ebbetts field, scowled at the rain-pelted red brick walls and explained to his fare:

"That four hitter Wyatt pitched against the Bees show's Wyatt's right, don't it? Durocher made the greatest stop and throw in the Giant game I ever saw. And who else has scored 12 runs this season in one game in this league? The way I see it, we're in."

Maybe the nickel subway series isn't so far fetched, after all. The Flatbush fans are confident—and they wouldn't be surprised if the Yanks win the American league pennant.

The latter's strictly hearsay. All they know for sure is what's going to happen in the National league.

Spartas Beat Morgans; Win Soccer Title

BY OFFSIDE.

The Sparta Falstaffs won the western soccer championship yesterday in Sparta stadium when they defeated the Morgan club of Pittsburgh, Pa., 1 to 0, in the third match between the two teams. The other two playoffs resulted in ties. A crowd of 5,000 saw the Spartas gain the right to meet Baltimore for the national championship. Soccer's national commission will meet in New York today to decide when and where the first game will be played.

Jimmy Wolf scored the winning goal after 35 minutes of play in the second half after taking a neatly crossed pass from Jimmy MacDermott. Wolf drove past Archie Strimel, Morgan goal keeper, from 10 yards out. The Morgans drove hard after the score, moving Fred Donelli up to the front line to press the attack, but the Sparta defense staved off a score.

The Morgans missed their best scoring chance in the first period when, with Goal Keeper Joe Silovsky out of his goal, Felix Mitchell shot over the bar. The Spartas bombarded the Morgan goal for 10 minutes early in the second half, but could not get one thru. After 15 minutes MacDermott was fouled by Donelli inside the penalty area, but Strimel cleared Billy Fraser's penalty kick. Lineups:

Cubs Go East to Help Open Pirates' Season

The Cubs moved to Pittsburgh last night and if the weather behaves in any one of the next three days, they'll share in their third 1940 opener. The Pirates' entire series with the Reds was trapped in the refrigerator. If a game is possible today, the Cub pitcher will be Claude Passeau. Mace Brown may oppose him.

In the future, or at least until the umpires change their minds again, batted balls bouncing off the low screened railing along the bleacher runways in right and left field in Wrigley field will remain in play. Last season they were ruled homers even tho the ball dropped back on the field.

Diz Dean, much unlike himself, issued no bulletins after the Cardinals' bats had driven him to shelter yesterday. He just sat around like a good little boy, not even trying to offer an alibi.

Lyons Pitches Sox to First Victory, 6 to 2

for the first time this year. With one out, McNair doubled to left, took third on a wild pitch and trotted home on Tresh's single to right. Lyons and Bob Kennedy supplied infield outs. The Sox fattened their advantage and knocked out Coffman in the sixth. Wright opened with a double to center and moved up on McNair's sacrifice. Tresh doubled to right, scoring Wright, and Tresh scored on Lyons' single to center. Kennedy again singled, Lyons stopping at second, after which the runners advanced on a passed ball. Johnny Whitehead replaced Coffman and Kuhel flied to Judnich, Lyons scoring. Kreevich popped to Heffner.

Johnny Niggeling pitched the last three innings and did not allow a Chicago boy to get on base. Only one, Kennedy, who flied to Judnich, got the ball out of the infield.

The success gave the Sox a league percentage of .333, but more than that got them back in a baseball mood that had been dissipated by many layoffs in the closing days of their exhibition season and three successive freeze outs after they started the season. The boys were cutting at the ball today and fielding like they know how to field.

MAKI DEFEATS DON LASH IN SLOW THREE MILE RACE

New Orleans, La., April 21 (AP).—Taisto Maki of Finland ran three miles here today in the slow time of 14 minutes 10.4 seconds, 28 seconds off his own world's record that he had hoped to beat.

The Finnish ski trooper finished 150 yards ahead of Don Lash of Indiana, the only other entrant in the Finnish relief fund race. It was Maiki's first outdoor appearance in the United States.

Paavo Nurmi, Maki's friend and coach, ran a half mile exhibition and said it probably was the last time he would ever run in America, and possibly on any track.

Lash, pressed into service when Greg Rice was unable to meet Maki because of a foot injury, tried to make a contest of it in the early laps but was spent long before the finish. Nurmi blamed the intense heat for Maki's slow time.

Victory Over Rubin Gives Campe Lead in Billiards

Marcel Camp defeated Art Rubin, 125 to 74, in 18 innings, to take the lead in the midwest pocket billiard tournament last night in Bensinger's recreation. Campe now leads with eight victories and one defeat. In the other evening game, Al Miller beat Willis Covington, 125 to 38, in 18 innings. Today's schedule: Joe Diehl vs. Art Rubin; Harry Kilgore vs. Carl Vaughn; Charles Oliva vs. Phil Villani, and Diehl vs. Kilgore.

Sox Return Home Today; Use Eaves as Tiger Greeter

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—The Sox and Detroit Tigers will open a three game series in Comiskey park tomorrow afternoon. Vallie Eaves will pitch for the Sox. According to dispatches from Cleveland, where the Tigers played today, Lynn Nelson, former Cub and later a member of the Athletics, will start for the Tigers.

It is probable the Sox will get much morning practice during the three days they are home, hosts to the Tigers. The Sox need exercise, and stiff morning drills will not be in the nature of chastisement, as they sometimes are.

If Joe Kuhel keeps up his current home run pace thruout the season he will make 101 homers, 41 more than Babe Ruth's record. Everybody is pulling for Joe to keep his health.

In all their suffering in the first two games of the season, the Sox took no exceptions to any of the umpires' decisions. The first kick came today, with their old pal, Lou Kolls, behind the plate.

The Sox will leave for home at five minutes after midnight and will arrive at the Park Row station at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

BYRNE WINS 2 DINGHY RACES IN GRANT PARK

Fran Byrne of the Jackson Park Yacht club won two of the seven races yesterday in the Mid-West Dinghy association's first annual regatta in Grant park harbor. A light northeast wind produced ideal sailing weather and a smooth course.

Byrne took the Jackson Park Yacht club class series in his Debutramp, with five firsts in six races. Other winners were Art Driesma in his Skidoo in the Columbia Yacht club B class; Commodore Henry Smieding of the Racine [Wis.] Yacht club; Lockwood Pirie, secretary-treasurer of the association, and John T. Pirie II., Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Byrne also won the cock-of-the-walk race in which winners of each class competed. The final free for all, in which more than 30 craft competed, was won by Pimm, sailed by Jack Vilas Jr., skipper, and Mrs. Harry Nye Jr., owner and crew.

Illiana Yacht club entrants were forced to withdraw, their boats being burned in a fire at Wolf Lake, Ind., early Saturday.

Chicago Rally in Ninth Fizzles Out.

out an out. Hack led off with a single, an infield tap to Brown. Davis then lost his aim and passed Herman and Galan, filling the bases. His generosity continued as he also walked Leiber, forcing in Hack. Max Lanier brought in his left handed talent at this point and the rally was stifled. Dallessandro fouled to Brown and Russell grounded into a double play.

Hack Saves Ol' Diz.

The fourth opened with Sturgeon booting S. Martin's hopper and the Cardinals immediately started tuning up for the Dean funeral march. Slaughter slammed a single to right, S. Martin taking third. Mize also singled to right, S. Martin scoring and Slaughter sprinting to third. Glen Russell got his hands tangled up with Padgett's grounder, Slaughter scoring the tying run. Pepper Martin sacrificed and Moore was purposely passed, loading the bases. Then Diz enjoyed a swell break. Hack stuck out his gloved hand for a successful grab of a whistling bounder by Marion and a double play was completed.

Lanier singled to open the fifth and it wasn't long before the Gas House gang had its one time pal ready for shipment. Brown flied out, but S. Martin singled to center. Slaughter flied out, then Mize singled to center, scoring Lanier. Padgett whacked a single into right, S. Martin scoring and Mize going to third. There was a slight delay while Dean was being removed. Root came in and Pepper Martin singled, scoring Mize.

Cubs Ignore Invitation.

Altho the Cubs collected two doubles and a pass in the sixth, they scored only one run. G. Russell doubled to left and was sent home on Todd's double. This was where Lanier turned over the pitching task to Jack Russell, who made Rogell pop out, walked Pinchman Nicholson and got Hack and Herman on infield taps.

Galan led off the seventh with a double, but went nowhere. Todd doubled again in the eighth and J. Russell set down the next two men, but Hack singled, scoring Todd. Herman also singled, so Shoun came to the rescue and coaxed Galan into popping to S. Martin.

The Cubs received a gold plated invitation to accept the decision in the ninth, but swooned again. The inning opened with Brown throwing high on Leiber's grounder. Dallessandro walked, G. Russell sacrificed and Shoun retired in favor of Morton Cooper. Cooper, the fifth Cardinal pitcher, wasted no time. Todd bounced to Marion, whose throw to Owen nailed Bryant, who had run for Leiber. Then Rogell had his second chance in the pinch. He popped to Brown for the final put out.

UNION CARBIDE NET EARNINGS SET NEW PEAK

Profits Are Doubled in Quarter.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation yesterday reported the largest first quarter earnings in its history. Profit in the three months ended March 31 was $10,468,706, nearly double the $5,293,885 earned in the corresponding 1939 period. Earnings per share of common stock in the respective quarters were $1.12 and 58 cents.

Daniel Willard issues rail's 113th report.

Butler Brothers, wholesale jobbers of general merchandise, reported an operating loss for the first quarter of 1940 of $152,425, compared with a loss of $192,029 in the corresponding period of 1939. The losses were figured before preferred dividend requirements of $101,592 for the period. Sales showed a gain of 4 per cent over a year earlier.

Electrolux Has Gain.

Electrolux corporation, maker of vacuum cleaners, had first quarter profit of $521,424, equal to 42 cents a share, compared with $443,913, or 36 cents a share, in the first three months of last year.

Baltimore and Ohio Railway company issued its 113th annual report, covering the 1939 calendar year. The report was signed by Daniel Willard, president of the road for more than 30 years.

"The outstanding accomplishment of the year, and perhaps an epochal one in the history of railroad finance, was the effectuation of the company's plan for modification of interest charges and maturities thru voluntary coöperation of individual and corporate holders," Willard said.

Fixed Interest Reduced.

"Under the plan, more than $166,000,000 of nearby maturities were extended for periods of 5 to 10 years, and fixed interest, which had been $31,421,742, was modified so that $19,644,679 remains fixed and $11,376,435, for eight years, becomes contingent on earnings."

Willard said revenue from freight totaled $140,455,927 for the year, compared with $115,426,377 in 1938. Passenger revenue was $10,856,060, against $10,561,494.

Eastern Rails to Offer Auto Service May 1

Thru arrangements made when tickets are purchased, automobiles will be available for the use of railway passengers in eastern cities under a plan to go into effect May 1, the Eastern Railroad Presidents' conference announced yesterday.

The service will be handled in conjunction with the American Drivurself association and will be available at points between Chicago and St. Louis, cities as far south as the Ohio and Potomac rivers, and east to the seaboard.

Expect Tourist Business.

Rates to be charged for the use of the private automobiles will cover all operating costs. The service, altho designed primarily for business men, is also expected to attract tourists and vacationers, according to the announcement.

Extension of the rail-auto service to eastern points was regarded as another move in the railroads' drive to win business back to the rails, particularly the substantial business obtained from traveling salesmen before the use of automobiles became so extensive.

Adopted by Western Roads.

Similar service announced some time ago by railroads operating in western territory will also begin on May 1. The carriers hope to win patronage by emphasizing the advantages of rail service for long trips and the convenience of the automobile for calling on customers at the point of destination.

MEXICAN CREDIT CONTROL TIES UP FINANCE FIRMS

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—A number of American finance corporations engaged in financing purchases of American goods on the deferred payment plan have been obliged to suspend operations because of Mexican credit restrictions. These prevent banks from lending money even for ordinary purposes of trade and on the best security.

Motor cars, radios, refrigerators, and other articles usually purchased on credit now can be bought only on a strictly cash basis.

ENGLISH HOLDINGS OF U. S. STEEL STOCK CUT 125,000 SHARES

New York, April 21 (AP).—Stocks of the United States Steel corporation held in England were reduced by about 125,000 shares in the year ended March 31, the company's figures on foreign holdings disclosed today. Most of the reduction occurred during the war period, apparently to obtain dollar exchange for war purchases.

Total foreign holdings of its common stock at the end of March, the corporation reported, were 717,272 shares, or 8.2 of the outstanding issue, compared with 738,386, or 8.4 per cent at the end of December and 872,490, or 10.8 per cent, at the end of March, 1939.

Foreign held preferred shares were down to 74,152 from 75,210 at the end of December and 79,931 at the end of March, 1939.

Common holdings of the three countries having the largest representation in the United States Steel share list compared as follows:

	Mar. 31, '40.	Mar. 31, '39.
England	242,325	367,153
Holland	318,034	327,200

CHICAGO EXPERT SURVEYS PERU'S IRON, COAL FIELD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, April 21.—Employing a naval amphibianplane, H. A. Brassert, internationally known iron and steel expert, is making a preliminary survey of Peruvian coastal iron and coal deposits which have attracted foreign capitalists for more than a generation.

Brassert, who is head of H. A. Brassert & Co. of Chicago, New York, and London, is accompanied by Earl Nixon and Charles Cohen, American geologists. They have been requested by the government to make an extended report on the feasibility of establishing an iron and steel industry here.

Development of the iron and steel industry is one of the cardinal points in the program of the government. If entered into, such an undertaking would be financed by the government or in coöperation with American capital.

MENASCO PLANS TO MAKE LARGE PLANE-MOTORS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 21 [Special].—A plan to manufacture 770 horsepower airplane motors here was announced today by the Menasco Manufacturing company. Menasco is the first plant here to announce production of the more powerful engines. According to A. E. Shelton, Menasco president, his company will be ready to produce the big motors for delivery next year.

Menasco officials are considering the possibility of hitching two, three, and even four of the new motors together under the "unitwin" principle, thus permitting a single motor of some 3,000 horsepower. The present aviation engine limit is 2,000 horsepower.

GRAIN SOURCE OF GERMANY AND ITALY REDUCED

Southeast Europe's Crops Small.

Germany and Italy may be placed under a severe handicap by crop losses in southeastern Europe, "breadbasket" of the continent, Chicago grain experts said yesterday. Study of reports from the area in which the Berlin-Rome axis partners customarily have purchased large quantities of grain, showed the winter wheat harvest in the area may be the smallest in a decade.

Altho Germany and Italy may be forced to seek grain elsewhere, it was believed unlikely that they would purchase supplies in this country. Switzerland, Greece and other importing countries may turn to North America, particularly Canada, because there is likely to be no substantial exportable surplus in Rumania, Hungary, and Jugo-Slavia.

Causes of Crop Losses.

Wheat and rye crop losses were caused by the southeastern nations' failure to seed a normal acreage, record-breaking low temperatures, excessive snowfall, and floods.

The prospective reductions in winter wheat in Rumania, Hungary and Jugo-Slavia, which last year had an exportable surplus of 120 million bushels, cannot be made up by increased spring wheat acreage, it was said. Southern Russia, normally a large exporter of wheat, is reported confronted with a small crop this season because freezing temperatures killed much of the grain.

Because of the European losses and the prospect of the smallest winter wheat crop in the United States since 1933, the experts said it was possible that heavy inroads would be made into the vast reserve supply built up in exporting countries.

Cause Rise in Prices.

These and other factors combined last week to send Chicago Board of Trade prices on wheat, corn and oats futures to the highest levels in about 2½ years. Prices follow:

Business Good, Outlook Fair, Says President of Chrysler

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Business is good and prospects are fair so far as any one is able to judge, K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, Detroit, said here yesterday. Keller and other top executives of the corporation stopped at the Blackstone hotel briefly en route to the southwest to visit dealers and to see how business is developing in that section of the nation.

K. T. Keller.

Keller said his company took advantage of the $4 a ton decline in the price of steel sheets to buy sufficient supplies to build 300,000 cars. He attributed the present weakness in prices of steel sheets—one of the major products of the steel industry—to the competition among the steel companies to get business to keep their big continuous rolling mills operating.

Competition Is Keen.

Continuous rolling mills are a comparatively recent development, he explained, on which the steel companies have spent many millions in the last few years. With their production capacity well above the present demand, competition is keen for this type of business.

Keller said that altho the Chrysler corporation lost about eight weeks of production last fall as a result of labor difficulties, that setback did produce one good result. It enabled dealers to clear up used car stocks, with the result that they are now in a favorable position to handle the large volume of new business.

Sales are booming in localities where large amounts of money are being placed in circulation, he said. Business is especially good in regions where airplane factories are working at top speed producing parts and engines for military purposes.

"Fluid Drive" Progressing.

Keller was enthusiastic about the progress being made with the "fluid drive"—a method of power transmission which does away with the necessity for gear shifting—brought out by Chrysler late in 1938. Because it makes driving much easier, he predicted that eventually it will be in general use, altho at present it is comparatively expensive.

CONGRESS GROUP DEADLOCKED ON NEW FARM BILL

Washington, D. C., April 21 (AP).—After a month of negotiation, a senate-house committee was reported today to be virtually deadlocked on major items in next year's farm bill.

The senate approved the annual agriculture department supply bill by adding about $300,000,000 to the total previously voted by the house. Seven senators and three representatives were appointed to compromise differences.

Since then the group has been meeting periodically—sometimes twice daily—without getting anywhere. The house members were reported to be tenaciously protesting each of 113 changes made by the senate, nearly all of them increases, and the senators to be insisting upon the increases as a minimum needed to carry out the farm programs.

MEXICAN CABINET TO CONSIDER OIL PROPOSAL TODAY

MEXICO CITY, April 21 (AP).—Mexico's reply to the United States request for arbitration of the oil expropriation conflict will be taken up tomorrow at a cabinet meeting called by President Cardenas, it was reported tonight.

Should the cabinet approve the draft of the Mexican reply, in which the arbitration request is expected to be rejected, the note may be delivered to United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels later in the day or Tuesday.

GLASS JARS.

In looking over the stock tables I noticed that Hazel-Atlas Glass paid $5 a share last year. The return based on current prices of the stock is slightly below 4½ per cent, which seems to be conservative. I would like to get an idea of the company's dividend paying record and its profits. —F. M.

Answer: Hazel-Atlas Glass company ranks second in this country as a manufacturer of glass containers. Jars and bottles for food represent about one-half of the company's output with the remaining being composed of household glassware, cosmetic and medicinal containers and fruit jars.

Outstanding of this company's capital stock are 434,409 shares of $25 par value listed on the New York Stock exchange. There is no funded debt. The quarterly dividend rate on the stock is $1.25 a share, and payments were made Jan. 2 and April 1, 1940. Dividends on the present stock were as follows:

1923-'27	$2.00	1933	$4.00
1928	2.50	1934	5.75
1929	2.87½	1935	5.00
1930	3.00	1936	7.64
1931	3.50	1937	6.56
1932	4.00	1938-'39	5.00

Net income in the year ended Dec. 30, 1939, increased 33.7 per cent over that for the year ended Dec. 31, 1938. Net sales, net income and earnings per share in recent years ending around Dec. 31 were as follows:

	Net Sales.	Net Income.	Earned per share.
1935	$25,504,000	$3,293,000	$7.58
1936	29,193,000	2,848,000	6.56
1937	32,693,000	2,898,000	6.67
1938	29,170,000	2,158,000	4.97
1939	29,226,000	2,884,000	6.64

The firm had total assets on Dec. 30, 1939, of $24,024,151, of which current assets were $14,398,365. Current liabilities were $2,137,005. Patents protecting the glass making processes were valued nominally at $14 in the company's balance sheet.

BLISTER VS. ELECTROLYTIC.

What is the difference between blister and electrolytic copper traded on the Commodity exchange in New York?—P. H.

Answer: When copper is refined, the impure metal is melted at a smelter. The molten copper is then poured into converters thru which air is forced to burn out the sulphur impurities. The resulting metal is about 98 per cent pure and is known as blister copper because of the eruptions caused by air bubbles. When impure copper or blister copper is refined further by an electrical process, the product is electrolytic copper, which commands a higher price and may be as much as 99.9 per cent pure.

STEEL MAKING RATE REMAINS FAIRLY STEADY

Withdrawal of Price Cut Considered.

Steel ingot production held fairly steady last week and prices stayed close to the recently reduced level, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

Demand for flat rolled products was stimulated by reports that early withdrawal of the $4 per ton price reduction was being considered. A number of buyers placed blanket orders for their quarter's needs, Steel said. Despite the reduction and talk of its withdrawal the volume of purchases was far below that recorded during the price war last May, according to the magazine.

Steel Output Larger.

A 2½ point rise in steel production in the Chicago area led a number of gains reported by the major districts. National output was 61¼ per cent of theoretical capacity, a gain of ½ point.

"Major steel consuming outlets are maintaining operations," Steel reported. "Automobile assemblies last week were little changed, marking nine consecutive weeks in which production has shown a maximum variation of only a few thousand units.

Rail Buying Moderate.

"Activity in railroad equipment markets is only moderate. Export business in iron and steel products continues active despite the loss of trade with Scandinavian countries.

"Slowness with which heavy building construction is increasing is reflected in the lag in structural shape awards. Orders have been more numerous lately but generally involve small lots."

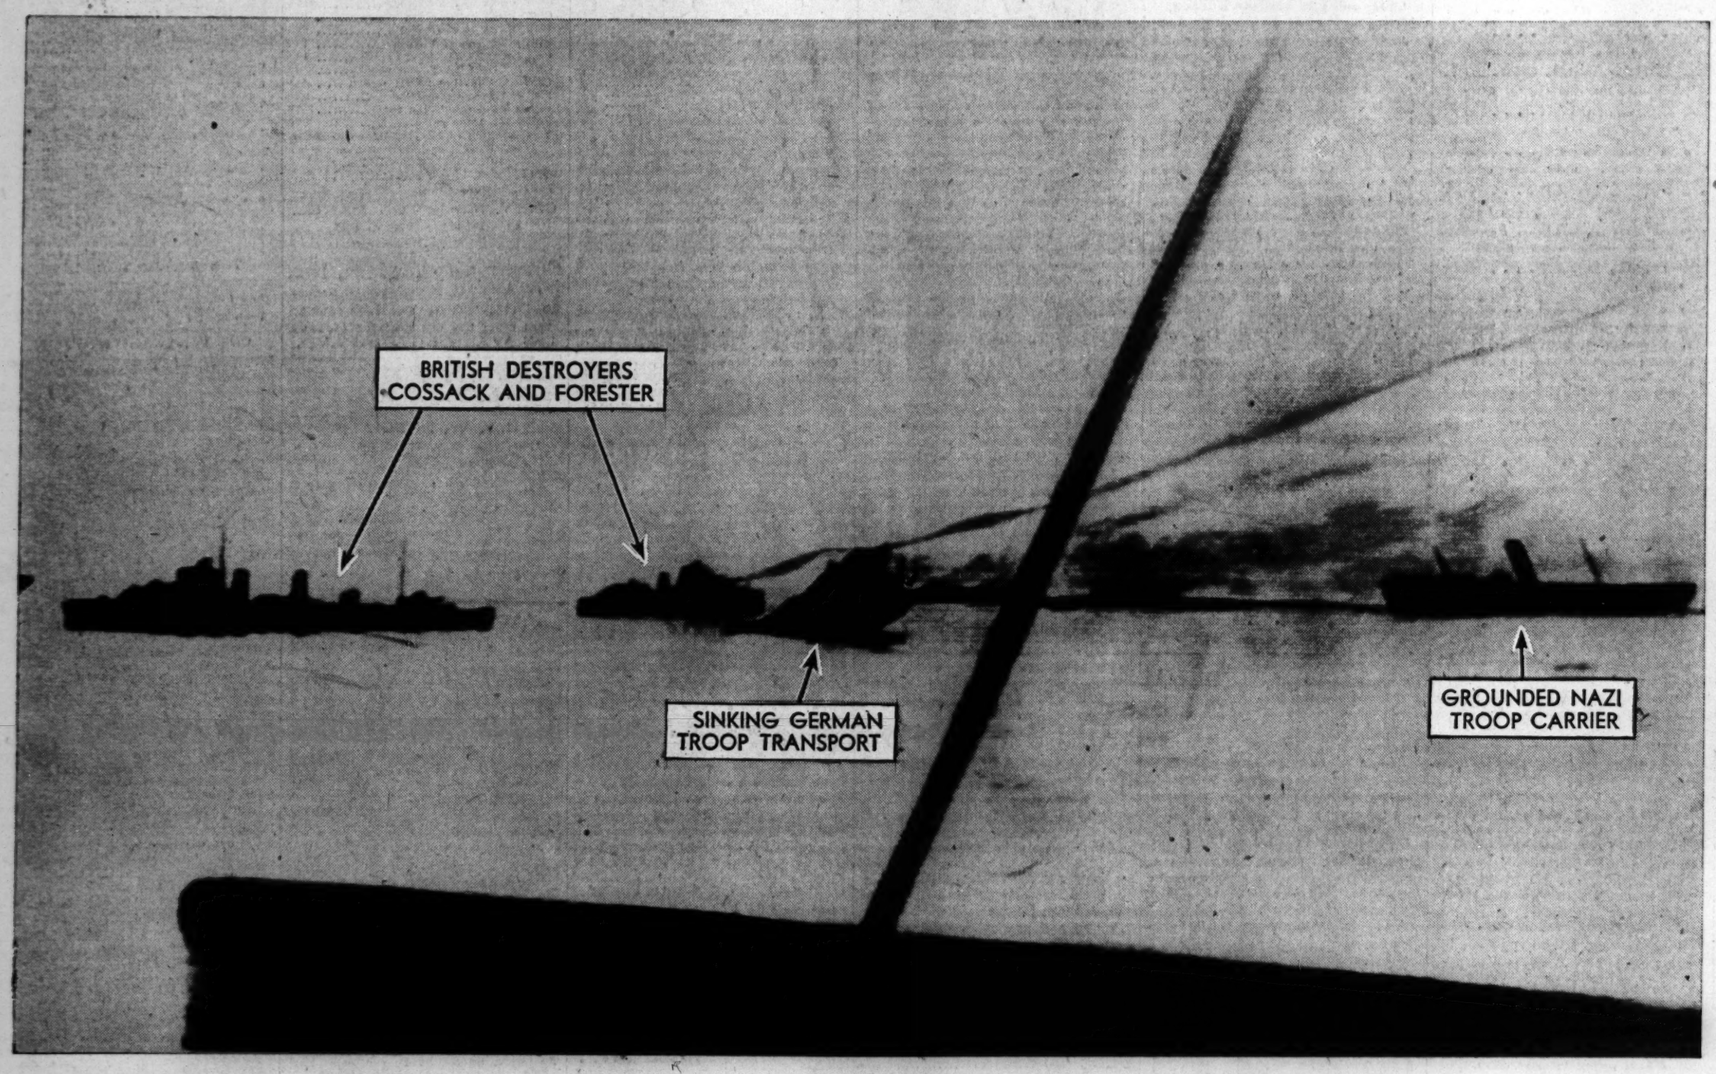
Eleven Youths Killed in Head-On Auto Crash—George Scalise, Union Boss, Accused of Extortion



[Acme Radiophoto.]

British approved caption on this radiophoto from London says it shows naval action during second British destroyer flotilla's battle with German warships in Narvik fjord, April 10, in which seven Nazi destroyers and other craft were reported sunk. Two British destroyers, a sinking Nazi transport and a grounded German troop carrier are shown, it is stated.
